Toward Quasi-Fraternity Spirit

Toward Quasi-Fraternity Spirit

The administration is strongly considering placing housemates and roommates in separate dormitory rooms in the near future. The movement toward separate dormitories has been suggested since the meeting of the Corporation Committee on October 6 with dorm-tories. As it stands, the system would involve assigning junior faculty members to live in the halls of the dormitories, and participate in the activities of the residents. The Dean's office then takes a distinct advantage to this system:

1. By fostering contacts, supervision, and organization, it will make dormitory living more enjoyable.

2. If the professor and his family be to house purchases of food, tur-

3. It will provide closer control over student activities in dormitories.

Loyalty Structure Desired

The effect of this system, according to Dean Rule, will be to attain "loyalty structures" within each dormitory. The system would involve assigning junior faculty members to live in the halls of the dormitories, and participate in the activities of the residents. The Dean's office then takes a distinct ad-

Policy Remains Liberal

According to the Jean, the policies of the Institute have been, and always are, liberal in the broad sense of the word. The policy with respect to the operational set-up at the Institute eventually took the form of the magnificent chorus.

With the gala Yale season already begun, discerning drinkers everywhere are forced to consume the somewhat nebulous beverages which are the American interpretation of the Wassail tradition.

Liquor lovers who wish to celebrate the season in the traditional manner would do well to abandon the egg-nog (which in these tasteless days is too often a revolting concoction of prepared mixtures and triple-rum alcohol) and consider the authentic English Bishop.

The history of this classic drink is to medieval times but in this area it is known to be served only at the traditional Ware Christmas party where its brewing and drinking has become a yearly ritual, and where participants in the nice ritual in its observance with loving memory and awareness of the coming of the winter with bated and fragrant breath.

Brandy is the base of the Bishop, and Armagnac has always been the favorite at Ware. Cognac, its more celebratory nectar, is best served for the mixer and a less refined person would be little more than accessory.

An iron cauldron should be used but if unavailable any stout bottle can be used. Into the cauldron, a fifth of brandy is poured and cut fruit is added (for best results, firm fresh apples, pear, orange and pineapple should be used).

The cauldron is then placed over a fire and warmed, brimful, and then simmered. Steaming and boiling, stewed in stout mugs, the Bishop has a hearty aroma and a rich hearty taste.

Faint hearts and fragile drinkers are warned, the Bishop is not to be trifled with. One mug will warm the heart and bring to the mouth the most pleasing taste. Two will make a strong man weak and none have ever finished three and many have never finished two and encouraged enough to tell about it.

A necessity for traditionalists and a luxury for all, the serving of the Bishop and the usually consequent oneness drowns a festive Yale evening.

Cheers.

Spontaneous spirit at half. Alert pressing by Hasseltine led to several steals and four baskets for the spirited guard, who now had seventeen half to make it 40-30 ahead 51-36, with fifteen minutes remaining. Jump shot by Hasseltine. Burton followed with a foul after the visitors had scored two straight baskets to leave them successive one hand push shots by Hasseltine and captain Mac Jordan '58. The Crimson surged ahead with nine straight Harvard last Saturday. The Engineers, led by high scorer Eric Hasseltine '59, were unable to use their pressing defense.

After a basket by Harvard's Monk Manchester, the Burkemen scored on a tap in by McGinty and a foul by Jordan. Playing before a capacity home crowd, the hustling MIT varsity basketball squad dropped an 81-61 contest to

Clark Cagers Top Beavers Thursday
In a tuneup for the encounter with the Crimson, the Beaver varsity basketballers were sized by Clark 55-12, Thursday evening at Wences.

The visitors trailed throughout the contest, closing the gap from eight points to three in the closing moments. High scorer for the Burkemen was Lee Cooper with 22. With three and one-half minutes left in the game, Harvard opened up a twenty-four point lead largely as Tech's only win was scored by -

In late last week's play only three games were played. Lambda Chi Alpha bowed to 3-15 Club 45-46; the Delta ran over Dover Club 51-47; and Westgate did the same to the Sunnys 62-51.

The top two teams from each league will be entered in the final, and it is hoped that the playoffs will be completed before exams begin. This schedule, however, may be delayed if there are any unsanctioned third place ties in the league which would necessitate playoffs.

In Intramural basketball League play draws to a close this week with the completion of every twenty games in the last several days. Tonight should finish off all but a few of the games, and championship play will start the first school week of the new year.

The next three men also won in three straight games. Lucky "P" Sherbey, who played with Fair to Egypt, monopolized his set 15-12, 15-11, and 15-9; Jack Mapple and Lecon ;

The Crofters went down 1-4 against Wesleyan in their first home game last Friday evening. The playing nine showed an improvement over the opener with Damascus in the previous week. Jessie Wallace '58, at number one played a good game but, unable to retaliate against his opponent's hard serving, lost 15-10, 15-9, and 15-12. Cal Morse '53 and Chuck Leonard '52, two and four each carried their sets to six games. Cal, showing improvement over the opener, won 15-10, 15-14, 15-18, 6-15, and 15-11. Chuck, after winning the first two games 9-15, 11-14, 11-14, lived out and lost the next three 17-15, 16-11, and 15-12.

One man was silenced by supreme Bob Hodge in the eight spot. Bob, continuing the good showing he made in the Dartmouth match, easily disposed of the next three games, winning 11-15, 12-15, 15-10, and 15-8.

Rallying to save face for the cellar, the Beavers managed 15-10, 15-12, 15-11, and 15-10. Don't just stand there... STICKLE! MAKE $25
