Wildcats Down Burkemen 67-60;
Four Beavers Hit Double Figures

In a loosely played game, the MIT varsity hockey squad dropped their third straight encounter Tuesday night to the University of New Hampshire Wildcats by a 67-60 margin.

Tech was molded from the floor of the entire game, hitting only 27% for the evening. Poking the Tech five was center Norm Howard '68 with 23 points.

The score remained close throughout the opening period, but the UNH sound was managed to hang a lead until near the end of the half when Tech opened up a three point lead at two differents trash.

ANNOUNCING THE WINNER

Art Severson '59 as closely predicted the underdog score of the Harvard-MIT basketball championship that he has become the possessor of a six pack of beer complements of 'The Tech.' His prediction: MIT 96, Harvard 78.

New Hampshire, however, took the bad again at the start of the second period and kept it, until the final gun sounded with the scoreboard in their favor by seven points.

Also scoring for the Tech quintet were Eric Hassan '59 and Paul Repetto '58 for a dozen each and Al Witham with 17 points.

Look for the Public Service man on campus

He’ll Be Glad To See You

This large New Jersey electric and gas utility is a growth company and you can grow with it. While the growth of the industrial product in the United States is projected by experts at 50 per cent ten years from now, there is every indication that the increase in our unit sales of electricity and gas will be twice as great…a whopping 100 per cent!

So look for the Public Service man on your campus. You can obtain a copy of our new brochure “Career Opportunities Through Training Programs at Public Service” from your placement office or by writing to Public Service, Room 2152A, 80 Park Place, Newark, New Jersey, for your free copy.
