NSA Reports to Inscom: Recommends Drastic Action

The NSA has recommended to Inscom that "continued membership in the NSA can be justified only if major changes are made in the philosophy and operations of the organization and MIT's participation in it.

The report states that the NSA is not fulfilling its purpose as outlined in the constitution and as accepted by the Institute Committee. In addition, the report indicates that the NSA is no longer interpreting its constitution in order to deal with issues within the scope of the constitution. The report recommends that Inscom to ratify the constitution of the NSA and to take drastic action against the NSA.

Dormcon Rules To Give Houses More Autonomy

The proposed revision of the Dormcon Rules Committee constitution has been passed in present as a temporary measure. The committee was originally designed to provide more autonomy for the individual houses than existed under the present set-up.

The name of Dormcon will be changed to "Dormcon Council of the Confederation of Undergraduate Men's Dormitories of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology." The change made here is in the insertion of the word "confederation.

A change in membership is also planned. The new Dormcon will consist of the House presidents and one additional member from each house, as at present, but will not include an additional Chairman as non-voting member. Instead, the Judicial Committee will serve as chairman of the Dormcon with a majority vote.

Policy and Punishment

Several issues ago we emphasized the need for a "middle ground" in Dean's office disciplinary procedures. We suggested that the policy be changed to include a more lenient approach to disciplinary cases.

We have received a letter today from a student who is currently involved in a disciplinary case. The student-Sports Information Officer at a neighboring college-has been asked to attend a hearing on charges of violating the college's code of conduct. The student is involved in a case that deals with the use of alcohol on campus.

The student is concerned about the fairness of the hearing process, as they feel that they were not given all of the information needed to prepare their defense. They also feel that the hearings are too informal and do not provide enough opportunity for the student to present their case.

We believe that the student has a right to a fair and equitable hearing process. We urge the college to consider implementing changes to the current system that will ensure that students are provided with a fair opportunity to present their side of the story.

The student is asking for your support in this matter. They feel that it is important for students to have a voice in the disciplinary process and that changes need to be made to ensure that all students are treated fairly.

We encourage you to take a stand for justice and fairness in the disciplinary process. Your support can make a difference in the lives of students who are facing these difficult situations.

The Plays the Thing

Last Monday, surrounded by representatives of the Corporation, administration, faculty, and student athletes, the Institute dedicated a fine new piece of physical plant, the du Pont Athletic Center. But while this building is impressive and a welcome addition to the campus, the most important consideration is what it will mean to student athletes and the athletic program.

Athletics at MIT is a special position; it is not big-time, in the sense of Big Ten football, where many cheer and few pity, and there is little fame or glory in it. Its essence is participation, and this fact is borne out by some figures cited by Richard Balch, Director of Athletics. For the academic year that ended in June, the number of MIT students registered for participation in athletics was 3,500. Of these, 3,100 played on 421 teams, which included 100 men's teams, 36 women's teams, and 156 mixed teams. The number of participants in varsity sports was 2,100, while the number of participants in intramural sports was 1,400.

It is clear that the new du Pont Athletic Center will be a significant addition to the Institute's athletic facilities. The center will provide state-of-the-art facilities for both varsity and intramural teams, and will help to further the Institute's commitment to athletics as a means of fostering student well-being and academic success.

We urge the Institute to continue to support athletics, and to ensure that all students have the opportunity to participate in athletic programs that are designed to promote healthy and active lifestyles.

Walker Staff Community in Itself; Takes Over Pritchett This Year

One of the larger student organizations on campus, the Walker Student Staff, functions almost as a small community in itself. Made up this year of 91 men, 60 of whom are freshmen, the staff is under elected Head Captain Norm Bednarczyk, '60, Burgess Rhodes, '60, in charge of Prichett Lounge, and William Park, '60, Secretary, in charge of the payroll and all outside operations.

For the first time, Prichett Lounge this year is being run entirely by the students themselves; it has been reorganized and improved right down to the removal of things like the trees which used to make it an aesthetic horror.

Mr. Rhodes, in charge of the operation, says that they have been given a fair chance to show what they can do, particularly after the month needed to train the freshman in performing their duties.

Delts Favored Over Grad House

In Saturday Football Headliner

The highlight of this weekend in sports will be the fierce competition in IM football as the league leaders meet strong opposition in their drive for the championships. Saturday will see Delta Tau Delta, who defeated DKE 14-0, face Grad House. The Delts are a strong favorite but anything goes. League action on Sunday features DKE as they try for their first win of the season. They are battling Sigma Phi Epsilon, who stand 1-3 in competition.

League II action will be a bit closer as Phi Gamma Delta (1-1) tackles the twins defeated ATO on Sunday at 3:30. In other games, Phi Delta Theta takes on TEP tomorrow. Phi Delta Theta is a slight favorite as they stand 1-0 while TEP has not played prior to this game.

The competition in League III has gotten off to a slow start, with only two games having been played in the past two weeks. The only two teams that will see action this weekend are Beta Theta Pi, who trounced Sigma Alpha Mu 19-0, and Sigma Chi, who is playing in their first game of the season.

Finally, there is also only one scheduled game in League IV, between SAR and Alpha Epsilon Pi. The AEPi's are off to a good start, dropping Phi Kappa Sigma 14-2 in their only league game thus far. SAR also turned in a sparkling performance against the Phi Kappas, running through their line for 3 points while yielding only 8.

The "B" Division competition continues as eight games are scheduled for the weekend. In League V, Senior House I, with a 1-3 record, confronts Chi Phi, who stand 0-2 for the season. Sunday will see Lambda Chi Alpha (1-0) play Kappa Sigma (0-1).

One of the biggest leagues this weekend is VI, where there are three scheduled games, two Saturday and one Sunday. The two on Saturday see Theta Delta Chi (1-1) battle Senior House II (1-2) while the Non-Resident Student Association (0-1) faces Phi Mu Delta, who won by default the previous weekend. On Sunday the Walker Student Staff (0-2) meets Senior House III, who play for the second straight day.

Graduate House Dining Staff (2-1) plays Phi Epsilon Iota (0-1) and Student House, last year's League VII champion, stands Theta Xi (1-0) in League VII.

Rounding out this weekend's football clashes is the single League VIII game between East Campus, who is taking to the field for the first time this season, and Phi Kappa Theta (1-0).

Athletic Association Seeks Student For New Publicity Mgr.

From the Sports Desk

The formal dedication of the DuPont Center at MIT Athletic Center marked another step in the excellent program that has been made at MIT to expand and improve the facilities available for athletics. The new building helps all of the various athletic teams that formerly were handicapped by the lack of facilities in the Rockwell Cage; provides much better rooms for the competition of the wrestling and fencing squads; more than doubles the number of squash courts at MIT; locates the athletic administration in better quarters; and also contains a fine general purpose room for entertainments.

Disclosure by the opening of the DuPont Center has been the track inside Rockwell Cage that was just completed this summer. The new cinderpath is laid out around the entire Cage, and represents a great advancement over the much smaller oval used previously. This will benefit winter trackmen immensely, as it eliminates the Outdoor board track used for meet. The new track will also be used by all interested in keeping in condition over the winter months.

These improvements follow closely such others as the twelve new Tennis courts opened a year ago since the acquisition of the Armory which has expanded space for intramurals; and the launching of a new cross country in the spring of 1958. In addition, there are many other athletic facilities at MIT that are some-what older. The Alumni Pool is one of the finest in New England; the sailing equipment here has been enjoyed by many for years; the eight-sided shells and the crew Boathouse are used by about one hundred students each year; and the outdoor ice skating rink, rink and ice rooms present further opportunities.

Of course there are still further advancements to be made, but rather than concern himself with these, the student should take notice of what has been done. He should realize that athletic facilities at MIT are of high quality and diversity, and are intended for the use of as many as possible.

Walker Student Staff Goes Beat

The Walker Staff Informal Dance Committee is sponsoring the 1960-61 program's first dance. Saturday, October 10th. Known as the "Beatnik Acquaintance Party," it is scheduled to fulfill its name as far as initiating social relations are concerned. Billed with poetry, poetry, dancing, free refreshments, Beatniks, and ideas, the committee has billed it as "Beatnik" and invited from over 100 girls and down the area, the dance is intended to duplicate as nearly as possible a San Francisco affair.

The purpose of the dance, the IDC, is an organization of the student staff of the Walker Eating Halls. Over the past years, this group has sponsored approximately one dance a month for both the enjoyment of the MIT community and the raising of funds for the Spring A-Hall. This year seven dances are scheduled with the Beatnik Party being the first. Under the chairmanship of Harry Baya, '61, the IDC is trying to build the dances back to the important social events they were up until two or three years ago, when attendance took an inexplicable drop. Greatly increased fraternity participation is hoped for; there is some possibility of live music at future dances, and various forms of entertainment are planned (the Techtonians, and any groups willing to volunteer).

The idea for the Beatnik Acquaintance Party was spontaneous one of the staff; it fell to Baya to see if an acquaintance dance, inasmuch as all the other scheduled IDC events are for couples only, and the three members of the committee are students of the Beat generation. An added feature of the IDC is that all the arrangements are made by the committee, and any groups willing to volunteer.

To lend atmosphere to the dance, the committee is setting turnstilekl Beck Black at 128 each. The Walker staff store has bought sixty of these -- the entire stock of two stores -- and the general public will have an opportunity to purchase them beginning Thursday, October 13th, in the lobby of Building 10. Also on sale will be Beatnik tickets at $2.50 and Beatnik tickets at $1.25 each. Three hundred and thirty Baker Electro-And Elects turn over for the annual Hall Chairmen's Panel Council-Social Chairmen elections on Tuesday, October 6th. At the Baker House Committee meeting on October 7th, the following roster of the winners: Hall Chairman -- Otto Lanzer, 1st floor; Bob Fabry, 1st floor. Secretary: Daniel Land, 2nd floor; Bert Pekar, 3rd floor; Warren Lott, 4th floor; Gary Gilmont, 5th floor; Bob Simpson, 6th floor.
