Dr. Leson L. Havens, Professor of Psychiatry at the Harvard Medical School and Chief Psychiatrist at the Massachusetts Mental Health Center, will give an elective subject entitled "The Development of Modern Psychiatric Ideas." The course will involve an investigation of modern psychiatry through a study of its past emphasizing the changes in the concept of mental illness through contributions of the various schools of psychiatric practice and theory.

Dr. Dan Avidan-Stege will offer two subjects in contemporary history. Head of the Department of Political Science at Bar Ilan University, Israel, Prof. Segre was formerly First Secretary of the Israeli Embassy in Paris. Assistant Director in the Africa Department of the Israel Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and Deputy Director of its information department. Fat, friendly robber baron charms in prizewinning play at Harvard

By Risa Berlin

See—her first ventriloquist play.

She—Helen Josephine Mazzafino

saw a live mouse and raced to the stage.

It was—five uncoordinated dancing puppets. No one wanted to be fat, friendly robber baron for the crowd. There was—no reason that any one should have to look like this!

Rather than to undertake the more substantial task of really bringing public transportation up to date, Politicians and others who speak of the constantly increasing traffic on the streets are not nearly small enough. You might have to or want to have to face traffic every morning.

Problem of commuter

The continual introduction of greater and greater numbers of cars into the fluid amount of space in a city will not be the only problem we will have to face if the mania for expressways continues. Building a highway in a city demands that something be displaced. Value judgments will have to be made which are likely to be highly personal and subjective, and superhighways suggest that we may in fact be forcing a third road on local residents who may not want it.

Delaying tactics such as Cambridge Mayor Hayes' recent appointment of a committee from the academic community to study the problem will be an understandable consequence of such intervention.

Just what has led to our devotion to the automobile is not clear, but the difficulties which we face are not of recent origin. The small alternatives suggest that we ought to devote more effort to developing a neglected alternative: public transportation.

The individualized transportation offered by the automobile has had an extraordinary appeal. For many, the automobile is the best means for moving large numbers of commutes to and from a constructed city.

A Columbus University faculty member attended the first-night of "Prince Erie" a stimulating play, at Harvard University's Loeb Th" ereters.

"Prince Erie" is a study of the Ef and times of a 36th century railway baron James Park, the fat man who established his way from a wandering peddler to the "boss of New York's transportation line, the Erie RR (hence the title)." Other Mayer has taken an unfortunate subject, placed him in an old fashioned play, and justified it by the spectacles of modernistic stage techniques. Mayer makes wide use of bar-cooking, Keystone cops cavorting with the fat baron; the most strangely accomplished prostitutes ever to grace a broiler practice their French. A man in blackface does not fit the mysterious, black-eyed Jiminy. People do not care much about a stock indicator that seems to be between a mopple and a thermometer. Struggle for a day's wage, a desperately maudlin mood is not to evoke anything more than the threat of a temper tantrum (at deliberate dapan)."

Committee proposes open house days to inaugurate MIT-Wellesley exchange

(Continued from Page 1) did reveal was a lack of understanding among students of both schools as to just what the exchange involves and what the other institution is really like. The committee is thus proposing an 'Exchange Day' next term. This would amount to an open house at each school for the students of the other school on two consecutive days. Thus, students could visit classes and tour the other campus.

One significant problem arising from the questionnaire is the transportation time between Cambridge and Wellesley. A majority of the students polled stated they would spend a maximum of 40 minutes travelling. This seems well beyond feasibility, especially during the morning and evening rush hours. However, as MIT and Wellesley have staggered schedules, (Wellesley has two one hour and 10 minutes classes and two 50 minute classes per day), and as each institution will allow students to make use of the other's dining services, it is hoped that the bussing time will not create a serious problem.

Is there a best glass for beer?

With some beers maybe the glass doesn't matter. But when the beer is Budweiser, our brewmaster holds strong views.

"I like a glass with plenty of room," he says. "Size is more important than shape. A big glass, say one that'll hold a full bottle, is best."

A big glass gives Budweiser a chance to show off ... lets you pour it straight down the middle to get a full collar of foam. (Those tiny bubbles are the only beer bubbles in America that come from the natural carbonation of Beechwood Ageing.) Another thing about a big glass: it lets you quaff the beer. And who wants to sip, when the beer tastes as hearty as Budweiser? That's about the size of it! Choose any kind of glass you want ... as long as it's big enough. (Of course, we have our own opinion on the best beer for the glass.)

Presenting The Drinking Song For Sprite:
"ROAR, SOFT-DRAW, ROAR!"
(To the tune of "Barbara Fritchie")

Are you wondering what to give that extra-special man on your list? Stop wondering. Give him that extra-special shaving combination, Persona Super Stainless Steel Blades and Burma Shave. Each gift is accompanied by this charming poem:

Christmas, north and south,
Does your house have roof and mouth?

And your dog, fidele semper.
Bring her in. I think she's warm.

To juiciness, turtles, parrots, green.
Jogee Noel! Hearruse Vaccines!

California has the smoothest substance ever discovered. You may not know, however, that this mineral was named after its inventor, Ralph Waldo Renthol, who developed it by crossing a swan with a ball. (Interestingly enough, Mr. Renthol did not start out to be an inventor. Until age 50 he was a Western Union boy. Then fate took a hand. One day while delivering a singing telegram to a girl named Claudia Sigifos, Ralph noted to his surprise that the telegram was signed "Claudia Sigifos!" She had sent herself a birthday greeting! (When pressed to explain, Claudia told Ralph a heartrending tale. It seems that when she was only six weeks old, her parents were killed in an avalanche. The infant Claudia was found by a pair of kindly caribou who raised her as their own. They taught her all they knew—like how to rub back off a tree and whichlichens are better than other lichens—but in time they saw that this was not enough. When Claudia reached age 18, they entered her in Bennington.

Tuesday: DINNER THEATER
As I write, Claudia is loved by the whole community. People. It didn't work. They went nowhere, saw no one. But Claudia ended up in Bennington. The operation was a success. Claudia was raised to be a fiddle player. To hang out in the street with! That we would rather sit with! To any campus riot! Ooooooh--

And Burma-Shave is pleas or menthol. Leave your face as smooth as renthol.

Leaves your face as smooth as renthol.
You will have the ladies fawning,

In Bennington. Claudia ends happily. After the birth of their two children, Donder and Hiltum, Claudia joined the PTA and has undergone several operations, all easily obtainable at your nearest war surplus boutique.

First, a most unusual gift idea, brand new this year and certain to please everyone on your list—a gift certificate from the American Veterinary Medicine Association! Each certificate is accompanied by this charming poem:

Christmas merry, New Year bony,
From your friendly blade Persograms.

You will have the ladies fawning,

Leaves your face as smooth as renthol.

If you're shaving with Persograms.
In fact, that she was reduced to sending herself birthday

Both are made by good Persedges.

If you're shaving with Persograms.

Hayes harasses Avatar

Police are around. In addition, it is reported that Dean Wadeigh may be asked to rule on the status of vendors on Institute property.

Hayes' harassment

The reason for the "harassment" is that Avatar has been chosen as the focal point for May er Hayes' crackdown on the hip popinocial population in the area. When the paper's editors met with Oly

Manager DeGuglielmo Saturday, Nov. 25, to find out why their previous applications for permits to sell the paper had been rejected, they were told that Avatar had been classified as a commodity by the Manager's Office. According to Cambridge law, the city manager has the authority to disallow licenses for the distribution of such commodities without a hearing.

The court decision announced Wednesday was that Avatar was, in fact, not a commodity. Thus, the vendors were on the streets again with issue no. 14 Wednesday, although the Cambridge police didn't seem to know what had happened.

Obscenity charges fought

The paper is still being prosecuted for obscenity in the courts. This case is still being fought.

Fencers trounce SMLT 19-8, sweep 8 of 9 matches in epee

By Bob Gelbe
Tech's fencing team registered a convincing victory against Southeastern Massachusetts Tech (SMLT) with a 19-8 sweep in the 9 of 9 matches in epee. Although Tech had no advantage in the first three matches, the outcome was clear as Tech went on to claim the victory.

Jansson scores 31

In a sloppy played game which witnessed 10 minutes of scoreless from the foul line, the varsity basketball team won to visiting Bowdoin 75-69. Bowdoin tops cagers

In a closely played game which witnessed 10 minutes of scoreless from the foul line, the varsity basketball team won to visiting Bowdoin 75-69. The home team was led bynesia in doubles figures, led by Dave Jansson with 31. The Bears could not stop two games ahead, which turned up by scoring 58 points.

Bears fall apart once again. With Jansson missing his jumpers, they managed only 58 points in three minutes. The half ended, 56-31. Bowdoin.

The second half saw play de- pressant as the reference table noted nothing and called fouls at both ends of the court, mostly under the boards. The slow pace made it difficult for MIT to match the visitors, as each of their pairs was cut short by a few char-ners.

Wheeler opened the second half by blocking the ball and passing to Jansson, who drove for a short bank shot. After six minutes of basket-making, he shot and scored for three minutes. The Bears are then caught white-hot on an instant decision, raising the count to 60-50.

Bob Listfield '69 came in to hopefully spark a Tech rally. The first time he touched the ball, he made a convincing victory against Southeastern Massachusetts Tech (SMLT) with a 19-8 sweep in the 9 of 9 matches in epee. Although Tech had no advantage in the first three matches, the outcome was clear as Tech went on to claim the victory.

The Bears' 19-8 victory against the SMLT in the first half gave them an early lead, which they maintained throughout the game. However, the SMLT fought back in the second half, but the Bears were able to hold off their challenge and secure the win.

Jansson, who scored 31 points, was the game's high scorer for the Bears. He was supported by Bob Listfield, who contributed 15 points, and Steve Werner, who added 12 points.

Despite the loss, the Bears showed signs of improvement, particularly in their shooting and ball handling. They will look to continue their development as they prepare for their next game against a tough opponent.

Bob Gelbe's report provided a detailed account of the Bears' victory, highlighting the impressive performance of Jansson, who nearly doubled the team's scoring average in a single game. The Bears' strong showing against SMLT was a welcome boost for the team, which has struggled to find consistent success in previous games.

Jansson's scoring performance was particularly noteworthy, as he used his skill and experience to lead the Bears to victory. With 19-8 sweep in the 9 of 9 matches in epee, the Bears have set a new high for their season. Although they faced tough competition from SMLT, their performance demonstrated their ability to compete at a high level.

The Bears will look to maintain their momentum as they prepare for their next game. With a strong showing against SMLT, they have set a new high for their season. Although they faced tough competition from SMLT, their performance demonstrated their ability to compete at a high level.
