Registrars turn away 82

By Norman D. Sandler

Eight hundred MIT students were turned away from a voter registration session held Wednesday afternoon at the Student Center after they "jubilated" to meet the requirements of the Cambridge, Massachusetts, election commissioner on hand.

Commissioner Edward J. Samps was the official on hand, as students, faculty, and staff members waited to attempt to register to vote in the November election, only to find that in most cases students were refused after failing to answer Samps' own collection of "qualifying questions" with the correct responses.

The registrars and the Commission were present at MIT only two weeks following their receipt of petitions from the Cambridge Democratic City Committee requesting the sessions to be held on the campuses of Harvard, MIT, and Lesley College.

The approval of the petitions by the Election Commission did not, however, necessarily mean that the registrars would, in fact, register students.

At sessions held at Harvard prior to one Wednesday at MIT, many Harvard undergraduates found themselves being turned away by Samps, who was appointed by the Commission to conduct on-campus registration sessions.

At the Student Center, Samp went beyond the thirty-day residency requirement in his interpretation of voter eligibility, and proceeded to ask every question, which most people saw as completely irrelevant to the registration (e.g., "Do you have a dog?"). He also grilled students on financial ties with their parents, draft status and car registration, and in many cases did not accept the suggested items of proof such as light bills, health insurance cards, or driver's licenses.

Typical of the questioning was Samps' interview of Eric Katz '76. That interview went as follows:

E: Yes, Sir, your name is what?

E: Eric Katz (Please turn to page 2)

ROTC hearings postponed

By Drew Jaglom

Last Monday night, at a meeting held by the defendants in the ongoing ROTC Discipline Committee hearings, it was decided that the hearing would be boycotted until certain steps were taken to rectify those aspects of the hearings which the defendants feel to be unfair.

Meanwhile, the Discipline Committee was meeting to consider possible changes in procedure to solve the problems that both sides are concerned about. Professor Charles Myers, chairman of the Committee, in view of their discussion, the Committee agreed to postpone the hearings for at least one week, scheduled for Tuesday and all the remaining hearings until further notice.

In a statement issued by the defendants, "the Discipline Committee and the MIT Community, the reason for the postponement is the lack of adequate time for the defendants to prepare for their defense, and the defendants demand "equal treatment with all other defendants, through the remaining hearings, it will not be until the last day of the hearings that the defendants will know the nature of the evidence against which they will be charged, and that, for the first time, in all the various stages of the hearings, the statement expresses the defendants' feeling that the Discipline Committee is not a legitimate body to try their cases and complete the rights of the Committee and of the defendants' lack of rights.

The reasons for the boycott include complaints that Vice President Eugene R, Woodcock, the aggrieved representative, "is not sticking to the charge," and "missing invidious evidence, that the defendants are unable until the actual hearings which the defendants believe will be fair, and evidence against which they will be charged and that, for all general, it appears that the word of the Administration will be taken above the word of the defendants, no matter what the situation.

In addition, the statement demands that the Administration respect, the major issue of the war until he had dealt with and the term he was long issues specifically before actions which the Republics have claimed him is much too soft. He called for an end to all military or economic aid to countries involved in illegal drug traffic, and turned to the problems of the nation's urban areas, which he said would be his first domestic priority if elected.

The Senator promised to make advances in improving the ROTC program (Please turn to page 2)

London appointed as joint med professor

By Jonathan Weker

MIT and the Harvard Medical School announced the appointment of Irving M. London, MD, Director of the Harvard-MIT Program in Health Sciences and Technology, to the Erlandson Chair of Medicine at both schools.

The appointment, announced by R. E. Harris, MD, Director of the Harvard Medical School, on Thursday, is the first such dual appointment between the two schools.

Dr. London has headed the Harvard-MIT program since its inception in 1970. He previously had served as chairman of the committee which designed the program in 1969.

The intent of the program is to focus science and technology on problems arising in medicine. To that end the program has the advantage of the strengths of both schools here to offer for the benefit of both students. They might otherwise be able to receive.

"The important aspect is to integrate medical education," said Dr. Harris. "To the extent that the program is going to be successful, it is going to be the program which pays off the participants as a benefit for both programs. Should any of them be able to receive a list of witnesses and their validity."

Due to the postponement of the remaining hearings, it will not be until the last day of the hearings that the defendants will know the nature of the evidence against which they will be charged and that, for all general, it appears that the word of the Administration will be taken above the word of the defendants, no matter what the situation.

In addition, the statement demands that the Administration respect the major issue of the war until he had dealt with and the term he was long issues specifically before actions which the Republics have claimed him is much too soft. He called for an end to all military or economic aid to countries involved in illegal drug traffic, and turned to the problems of the nation's urban areas, which he said would be his first domestic priority if elected.

The Senator promised to make advances in improving the ROTC program (Please turn to page 2)

London appointed as joint med professor

By Jonathan Weker

MIT and the Harvard Medical School announced the appointment of Irving M. London, MD, Director of the Harvard-MIT Program in Health Sciences and Technology, to the Erlandson Chair of Medicine at both schools.

The appointment, announced by R. E. Harris, MD, Director of the Harvard Medical School, on Thursday, is the first such dual appointment between the two schools.

Dr. London has headed the Harvard-MIT program since its inception in 1970. He previously had served as chairman of the committee which designed the program in 1969.

The intent of the program is to focus science and technology on problems arising in medicine. To that end the program has the advantage of the strengths of both schools here to offer for the benefit of both students. They might otherwise be able to receive.

"The important aspect is to integrate medical education," said Dr. Harris. "To the extent that the program is going to be successful, it is going to be the program which pays off the participants as a benefit for both programs. Should any of them be able to receive a list of witnesses and their validity."

Due to the postponement of the remaining hearings, it will not be until the last day of the hearings that the defendants will know the nature of the evidence against which they will be charged and that, for all general, it appears that the word of the Administration will be taken above the word of the defendants, no matter what the situation.

In addition, the statement demands that the Administration respect the major issue of the war until he had dealt with and the term he was long issues specifically before actions which the Republics have claimed him is much too soft. He called for an end to all military or economic aid to countries involved in illegal drug traffic, and turned to the problems of the nation's urban areas, which he said would be his first domestic priority if elected.

The Senator promised to make advances in improving the ROTC program (Please turn to page 2)
Registars turn away 82

(Continued from page 1)

EK: Katz. ... Eric J. Rust.
Campus... is that you, OK.
Eric, what is the basis for your claim that you are legally domiciled in Cambridge?

EK: I've lived here over a month.

ES: What's that?

EK: I've lived here over a month.

ES: Well, that would satisfy the durational (requirement). Now how about the domiciliary Part?

EK: How, how would you go about proving...

ES: Well, I would want some positive acts from you that you intended to do something more than just being a student here. In other words, such things as... uh... have you... acquired a Massachusetts drivers license?

EK: I don't feel I'm... EK: That's what?

EK: I don't drive.

ES: Uh, how about your draft situation... uh... where's your draft card from?

EK: Presently it's in... Brooklyn, New York. And how long ago did you get that?

EK: About five months ago.

ES: And you notified them that you have changed your add-dress to here. That you've taken out a new residence?

EK: As of yet, no.

ES: And you file federal income tax?

NOTES

* The SCC presents the Midnite Music Shows, Friday at midnight in the Harvard Co-education Building.

* Ten Little Indians: the advertisement is for.

* The 1972 Putnam Math Competition will be held December 2 and is open to undergraduates. The MIT team will be determined by the results of a take-home test to be given the weekend of October 13-15. Any- one may take the December test and try for a spot as a substitute apart from the team competition. For infor-mation contact Prof. Green, room 2-333, x-7395 or Prof. Ostrog, room 3-374, x-4897.

* A representative from Cornell Medical School will interview those who have applied to Cornell on October 6. Appointment may be obtained in room 18-186, x-4151.

* The Pot Luck Coffeehouse is open Friday and Saturday nights from 9:00 pm to 1:30 am in the Stedfast Center. Reservations are recommended; no cover.

* The Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures will present a showing of the Soviet film Frame and Proceeding directed by Seiji meshi. The event is in Room 218, with admission free. Part 1 will be shown on Friday, October 6 at 7:30 pm, and Part 2 will be shown on Sunday, October 8 at 7:30 pm. Both parts are in 18-106. Admission is free.

London appointed as med program director

(Continued from page 1)

enrolled in the biomedical engineering aspect of the program, which will provide a "hopefully productive interaction of faculty and students at MIT with faculty and students at Harvard Medical School and hospitals so that the study of diseases can take advantage of technological advances," London explained.

"We’re trying to bring the full range of strengths available in the university to bear on health and medical problems," he added.

The Harvard-MIT program faculty and students are also jointly engaged in several fields of research. A team of 35 facul-ty members from both schools recently received a $5 million grant from the National Institutes of Health for their work on biological materials. Within the program, research is continuing in the areas of cardiovascular and pulmonary diseases, radiation therapy, sensory physiology, and other fields.

There's no substitute for real rustproofing. Bring your car to Ziebart.

There's no substitute for real rustproofing. Bring your car to Ziebart.

There's no substitute for real rustproofing. Bring your car to Ziebart.

There's no substitute for real rustproofing. Bring your car to Ziebart.
Thousands hear McGovern

(Continued from page 1)

McGovern went further than that, saying he would leave out the word "room" and say this administration "is the biggest fraud moral to the standards of this country of any administration in the history of this nation."

He gave as evidence the recent Watergate incident, alleging that "any political agency... and these seven men were linked back to the White House and the Committee to Re-elect the President... that does not hesitate to stoop to wiretapping the banners of a national political party would not hesitate to wiretap your business office, your law office, your bank, your university, or even your home."

In ending his address, McGovern used the slogan "Come home, America," which he first used during his acceptance speech at the Democratic Convention. He promised that he was not advocating isolationism, but rather a turn back to "the great ideals of this nation."

He recounted, "Some 27 years ago... I was engaged... in World War II, as a pilot. We were hit one day by a massive anti-aircraft barrage over a very dangerous target, Nazi Germany. Over 1150 holes were torn in that bomber. The crew was on the verge of bailing out, and I was just as scared as they were... but we assumed the damage quickly and decided there was a chance we could get back to our base. So I issued the order "everybody get back to your station, we're going to bring this plane home."

"Want to say to you today... resume your stations, we're going to bring America home."

GOP launches program to recruit young voters

By Norman D. Sandler

As George McGovern makes campaign stops in Boston, the Republicans are busy with a campaign which they hopes will swing the traditionally Democratic state of Massachusetts.

Located at 77 Franklin Street in Boston are the offices of the Massachusetts Committee to Re-elect the President (MCRP), which is coordinating efforts throughout the state to register voters and influence Independents and Democrats, as well as Republicans, to re-elect the Nixon-Agnew ticket in November.

One of the efforts coordinated through the state office is the Young Voters for the President, a youth division of the CRP, whose task it is to campaign for the youth vote which will be so crucial to the election, with 25 million new people between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one going to the polls.

The Young Voters are aiming at that section of the youth vote which is not on the college campus scene, where McGovern already has a strong hold. Statistics show that only 40% of the newly enfranchised youths attend college, and it is the working youths the GOP campaign workers are so concerned about.

The Young Voters was established in early September by CRP officials, and thus, it has had a late start in gaining momentum and exposure. Programs have been set up in all fifty states, and in Massachusetts the program is divided into counties, and there are coordinators on each college campus, according to Gusy Off, who is the chairman of the Young Voters for the state of Massachusetts.

Coordinators are busy on most of the college campuses in the state of Massachusetts. (Please turn to page 6)

U.S. AIR FORCE RECRUITING SERVICE
STATE OF ADVERTISING SERVICE
RANDOLPH AIR FORCE BASE, TEXAS 76121

Find yourself a scholarship in Air Force ROTC

NAME

Address

City, State, Zip

Date of Graduation

College

SOC. SEC.

U.S. AIR FORCE RECRUITING SERVICE
STATE OF ADVERTISING SERVICE
RANDOLPH AIR FORCE BASE, TEXAS 76121

Find yourself a scholarship in Air Force ROTC

PHONE: 800-631-1972 TOLL FREE

75 OUTDOOR SALE

Located on the Kresge Plaza
Adjoining the M.I.T. Student Center

OUTDOOR SALE

SAVE 40% TO 60% AND MORE!

- Popular and Classical records
- Art prints and posters
- Men's neckties and furnishings
- Pleated and junior fashions
- Sheets, towels, and India spread
- Hardcover remainder books

BABSON COLLEGE
Wellesley, Massachusetts

Program for Master's Degree in Business Administration
For Business and Non-Business Majors
On-campus interviews October 13, 1972; 2-4 P.M.
by Dr. Frank Gerson

Signups: Career Planning and Placement Office

SAT-8 PM

SNEAK PREVIEW

ADVANCE SHOWING OF A NEW FILM IN ADDITION TO OUR REGULAR SHOW

CLUE: It's America The Funny

He was only President of the United States... But he planned to work his way up.

THE TECH FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1972 PAGE 3
MIT: social change and the university

By Lee Gigueser

Two different and for the most part unrelated events of the fall, the Discipline Committee's current hearings and the student-vote on a new of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences, have thrown into sharp relief a problem that may well be crucial to MIT's stability in the years to come: it is now very clearly apparent that the student body of the university holds very different and in some ways conflicting assumptions about its conception of the "community of scholars." The university continues to see it as an essentially informal organization; the younger members, particularly students, are often outside of the circles in which these informal connections operate.

Although there may be essential agreement among every member of the university participate . . . in the decision making procedures of the university," there is really no one who doesn't know - or doesn't think they know - for the Institute to be called a community in a meaningful sense. Rather, it is becoming a formal social structure, a society composed of a number of its basic values and traditions. The university is thus a community that is undergoing a process of change, with its own goals to further. The structure of the Institute, as it is often so readily labeled, is not a transparently transparently that of rapidly changing institutions, which may have failed to keep pace with the changes of the 20th century. For example, the MIT Faculty, as the public is pleased to hear, may have failed to keep pace with the changes of the 20th century. The Faculty is, as was noted, a body that is not only the final step, and in fact a small step, in the development of politics and policy making at the Institute. The meetings are more than a rubber stamp, but only a little more. For the most part, the constructive work of policy development and planning takes place elsewhere.

The Fact that as a institution, with its own goals to further, the Faculty continues to operate on an informal basis, the committee system, which is to be based on the idea that each member is a member of a communication linking with a segment of the community and serves to put the committee in contact with a fairly broad spectrum of views from the "community." (This is not to imply that Faculty committees are representative bodies in a true sense; each member acts as an individual, at the same time serving to bring in a wider range of policy relevant expertise. Thus, MIT's power has developed a system whereby it is able to bring into some of the more than 1,000 active action, with the final "vote of the Faculty" at its meeting serving as a kind of assurance that the system will not run awol - at least as far as the faculty is concerned.

Over the years, the Faculty has evolved an increasingly formal system of operating, with a number of subcommittees and task forces, in addition to the usual standing committees, structure, while generally maintaining the myth of the community of scholars.

For students, however, the combination of an increasingly formal infrastructure and an informal superstructure has meant a gradual exclusion from the "decision making process." Because the faculty now number so many, it is very difficult for students to see that their opinions are voiced. While the faculty now number so many, it is very difficult for students to see that their opinions are voiced. While the faculty, for five or fifteen years, may have little difficulty understanding how the system works, students usually have a hard time understanding the system simply as they begin to understand what is going on. And when they leave, they can only add that they know that they have been active participants in the system, to the system. They may feel that they may well feel that educationally they four years were well spent. Most students, I would suspect, are simply stranded on the periphery of a system that they do not understand.

MIT as an institution has not kept up with its own social reality.

ylation. I suspect that Students are representatives of a group of policy relevant expertise. Thus, MIT's power has developed a system whereby it is able to bring into some of the more than 1,000 active action, with the final "vote of the Faculty" at its meeting serving as a kind of assurance that the system will not run awol - at least as far as the faculty is concerned.

Over the years, the Faculty has evolved an increasingly formal system of operating, with a number of subcommittees and task forces, in addition to the usual standing committees, structure, while generally maintaining the myth of the community of scholars.

For students, however, the combination of an increasingly formal infrastructure and an informal superstructure has meant a gradual exclusion from the "decision making process." Because the faculty now number so many, it is very difficult for students to see that their opinions are voiced. While the faculty now number so many, it is very difficult for students to see that their opinions are voiced. While the faculty, for five or fifteen years, may have little difficulty understanding how the system works, students usually have a hard time understanding the system simply as they begin to understand what is going on. And when they leave, they can only add that they know that they have been active participants in the system. I would suspect, are simply stranded on the periphery of a system they do not understand.

MIT as an institution has not kept up with its own social reality.
The Equivalent Of 7 Hiroshima A-Bombs Are Being Dropped On Indochina Each And Every Month

And that's after six years of protest!

Explosives equal to 420 Hiroshima A-bombs have already been dropped on Vietnam.

Millions of men, women and children have been killed, maimed or left homeless as a result of the bombing.

—and this is what President Nixon calls a policy of "great restraint"?

He tells us he is winding down the war — and then says that unless North Vietnam accepts his terms, there will be no reduction of the bombing. (As a matter of fact, there will probably be a further escalation.)

"Those who have had a chance for four years and could not produce peace, should not be given another chance," Nixon, October 9, 1968.

On this October 9th, it will be four years. Can our conscience stand the guilt of another four years of this kind of immorality under Richard Nixon?

What are the justifications we are given for this wasting of Vietnam and its people? To protect the people of South Vietnam from communism? To maintain democracy?

The regime we are defending suspends elections, muzzles the press, jails and tortures its political opponents. The people we are supposed to be saving are being systematically killed.

To the survivors, our fight to contain communism in Southeast Asia (at the same time that we are making business deals with communist countries) can only be viewed as hypocritical fanaticism, indistinguishable from that which we have sworn to oppose.

Even as the bombing and killing have been escalated, most Americans appear to have tuned out on what's happening in Indochina. The Nixon Administration is counting on the American conscience to care only about U.S. casualties, not about the lives of Vietnamese.

Do we really not care about the people we kill?

Americans will not always be able to ignore the consequences of our actions. We will be asked: How could it happen? Where were you? What did you do?

☐ Just protesting is not enough.

☐ Voting your conscience is not enough.

Your dollars are crucial. Your dollars can stop the killing. Make it possible for George McGovern to awaken the people before November 7.

President McGovern would end the war.

People of conscience must make this final sacrifice: contribute your utmost!

This is our last chance to make a difference.

---

Dear Senator McGovern:

I feel compelled to do my utmost to end the war in Vietnam — and I know that requires the sacrificial giving of dollars to help you awaken every American. Enclosed is my contribution of $25 (or the closest to that figure I can manage).

Peace.

NAME

ADDRESS

CITY

STATE

ZIP

PLEASE MAKE CHECKS PAYABLE TO:
THE AGE OF MCGOVERN COMMITTEE
20 EAST 72 STREET
NEW YORK, N.Y. 10021

A copy of our report filed with the appropriate supervisory office is (or will be) available for purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Shara Davis—National Treasurer

The program will not endorse any state, or local Republican candidates for office. She added that one of the prior campaign programs has been that of identification, and "people must realize that there is an organization for young voters for President Nixon."

The Young Voters program is apparently having reasonably good luck on the college campus in Massachusetts, with over twenty colleges already set up, and many more just now getting coordination, including MIT, where the McGovern campaign has had a substantial time advantage, having begun campaign efforts back in March and April for the spring primaries.

Thus far, Young Voters programs have been organized at Boston College, Boston University, Wellesley, MIT, Wheaton, University of Massachusetts at Boston, Radcliffe, Harvard, Mt. Holyoke, Amherst, and Smith, though the most active organizations have appeared to be in Western Massachusetts. Disproportionately, overall voter appeal, the major problem facing the Young Voters program in Massachusetts is that of lack of sufficient funding. The Massachusetts CRP is also in financial trouble, stemming from a low budget given the state to the beginning of the campaign, when carrying Massachusetts seemed next to impossible to the Republicans. However, the organization will undoubtedly be assisted by campaign visits in the time before the election.

MAGICIAN for mixers, birthday parties, receptions, cocktail rooms with large deck, washer and dryer, wall to wall carpet, panelled family bedrooms, modern kitchen and bath, $700 to $3000 monthly. Sacrifice lot of fine like-new SLR purpose of raising youth support for the president in November.

Patio, Rocking Chairs, and TV's. All new, in seas, Dept. F6, P.O. Box 15071, San Diego, CA 92115.

Sacrifice lot of fine like-new SLR cameras, lenses, s.d. view, film, lot of 35 mm cameras, $20 ea.; Nikon, Nikkormat, Minolta, Pentax, Rolleiflex, 16 mm cameras $35, etc. Also famous portable, standal and electric typeviewers. All at truly ridiculous prices, look. H.R., Apt. for rent - Watertown, three bedrooms, modern kitchen and bath, wall to wall carpet, furnished family room with large deck, washer and dryer, $1500. 934-6293.

...and get three concessions for the price of two.

Unique service for PhD or MA candidates. Professional editorial editors work with you to prepare your thesis for acceptance by department or publications. All topics, Personal service, pick up and delivery. Call Lisa 492-3155 Anytime.

Competitive list of fine inspected SLR cameras, lenses, s.d. view, film, lot of 35 mm cameras, $20 ea.; Nikon, Nikkormat, Minolta, Pentax, Rolleiflex, 16 mm cameras $35, etc. Also famous portable, standal and electric typeviewers. All at truly ridiculous prices, look. H.R., Apt. for rent - Watertown, three bedrooms, modern kitchen and bath, wall to wall carpet, furnished family room with large deck, washer and dryer, $1500. 934-6293.

MAGICIAN for mixers, birthday parties, receptions, cocktail rooms with large deck, washer and dryer, wall to wall carpet, panelled family bedrooms, modern kitchen and bath, $700 to $3000 monthly. Sacrifice lot of fine like-new SLR purpose of raising youth support for the president in November.

Patio, Rocking Chairs, and TV's. All new, in seas, Dept. F6, P.O. Box 15071, San Diego, CA 92115.

Sacrifice lot of fine like-new SLR cameras, lenses, s.d. view, film, lot of 35 mm cameras, $20 ea.; Nikon, Nikkormat, Minolta, Pentax, Rolleiflex, 16 mm cameras $35, etc. Also famous portable, standal and electric typeviewers. All at truly ridiculous prices, look. H.R., Apt. for rent - Watertown, three bedrooms, modern kitchen and bath, wall to wall carpet, furnished family room with large deck, washer and dryer, $1500. 934-6293.

MAGICIAN for mixers, birthday parties, receptions, cocktail rooms with large deck, washer and dryer, wall to wall carpet, panelled family bedrooms, modern kitchen and bath, $700 to $3000 monthly. Sacrifice lot of fine like-new SLR purpose of raising youth support for the president in November.

Patio, Rocking Chairs, and TV's. All new, in seas, Dept. F6, P.O. Box 15071, San Diego, CA 92115.

Sacrifice lot of fine like-new SLR cameras, lenses, s.d. view, film, lot of 35 mm cameras, $20 ea.; Nikon, Nikkormat, Minolta, Pentax, Rolleiflex, 16 mm cameras $35, etc. Also famous portable, standal and electric typeviewers. All at truly ridiculous prices, look. H.R., Apt. for rent - Watertown, three bedrooms, modern kitchen and bath, wall to wall carpet, furnished family room with large deck, washer and dryer, $1500. 934-6293.
McGovern comes to town

Photos by David Tenenbaum
MIT's varsity sailing teams won trophies in two of the fall season's major regattas last weekend, as the men's team took first place in the Jack Wood Regatta at the Coast Guard Academy and the women's won the Captain's Cup Regatta at Dartmouth on Sunday.

In the Jack Wood, an event sailed by varsity, junior varsity, and freshman coed crews, the Tech sailors defeated champions Harvard by thirteen points in finishing first in the five-school field.

Akin Sipowicz '73 and Walter Frank '74 placed first of the "A" varsity dinghies, while Steve Cicciolo '74 and Frank Kail '73 finished in a three-way tie for first in the varsity dory open class. Paul Schmitz '75 and George Todd placed second in the freshwater fleet, where Harvard won every race.

Results of the regatta were: MIT 77, Harvard 70, Coast Guard Academy 74, Brown 110, and Dartmouth 127.

On Saturday, the men's team placed third in the P.J. Lane Trophy Regatta at Tufts, with Dean Krohn '73 as crew, sailed in C-division, while Cicciolo, with Tucker crew, placed second. The twelve-school field was led by host school Tufts with 16 points, followed by Harvard, 20, MIT 33, Coast Guard 35, Boston University 35, University of Connecticut 57, Maine Maritime Academy 66, University of Maine 69, Boston College 71, Worcester Polytechnic 86, Merrick 90, and Holy Cross 102.

On Sunday, the MIT women's varsity team placed first in a six-school regatta, while the Captain's Cup Regatta at Dartmouth. Maria Bozuto '73 finished first in A-division, while Sheila Bernstein '74 placed third in B. Coach Dan Barkley stated that he was very pleased with the performance of the team.

In a regatta marked by high winds on Saturday at the Coast Guard Academy, the MIT women's varsity won the Captain's Cup Regatta, while the B and C divisions were both won by Boston College and Bentley College.

The men's varsity team has now won six of its seven regattas of the season, and is ranked first in the nation. The team will compete in the ECAC last weekend, and will travel to Hanover, N.H., for the ECAC's annual championship.

Sailing weekend yields trophies for both teams

MIT’s varsity sailing teams won trophies in two of the fall season’s major regattas last weekend, as the men’s team took first place in the Jack Wood Regatta at the Coast Guard Academy and the women’s won the Captain’s Cup Regatta at Dartmouth on Sunday.

In the Jack Wood, an event sailed by varsity, junior varsity, and freshman coed crews, the Tech sailors defeated champions Harvard by thirteen points in finishing first in the five-school field.

Akin Sipowicz ’73 and Walter Frank ’74 placed first of the “A” varsity dinghies, while Steve Cicciolo ’74 and Frank Kail ’73 finished in a three-way tie for first in the varsity dory open class. Paul Schmitz ’75 and George Todd placed second in the freshwater fleet, where Harvard won every race.

Results of the regatta were: MIT 77, Harvard 70, Coast Guard Academy 74, Brown 110, and Dartmouth 127.

On Saturday, the men’s team placed third in the P.J. Lane Trophy Regatta at Tufts, with Dean Krohn ’73 as crew, sailed in C-division, while Cicciolo, with Tucker crew, placed second. The twelve-school field was led by host school Tufts with 16 points, followed by Harvard, 20, MIT 33, Coast Guard 35, Boston University 35, University of Connecticut 57, Maine Maritime Academy 66, University of Maine 69, Boston College 71, Worcester Polytechnic 86, Merrick 90, and Holy Cross 102.

On Sunday, the MIT women’s varsity team placed first in a six-school regatta, while the Captain’s Cup Regatta at Dartmouth. Maria Bozuto ’73 finished first in A-division, while Sheila Bernstein ’74 placed third in B. Coach Dan Barkley stated that he was very pleased with the performance of the team.

In a regatta marked by high winds on Saturday at the Coast Guard Academy, the MIT women’s varsity won the Captain’s Cup Regatta, while the B and C divisions were both won by Boston College and Bentley College.

The men’s varsity team has now won six of its seven regattas of the season, and is ranked first in the nation. The team will compete in the ECAC last weekend, and will travel to Hanover, N.H., for the ECAC’s annual championship.

Golf team heads for ECAC

MIT’s golf team, following a 6-1 loss earlier this week at Bryant College,Smithfield, R.I., travels to Hanover, N.H., Friday and Saturday for a try at the regional Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference’s annual trophy.

Coach Jack Barry will take six men to Hanover – Captain Bob Kroth ’73, Pete Woźniak ’76, Bob Orloff ’73, Jeff Vining ’76, Warren Sherman ’73, and Bob Harrison ’76. Five will play in the 18-hole medal tournay Saturday and fifth spot will depend on scoring during Friday practice rounds. Harrison won his chance for the ECAC last Tuesday when he missed a practice round 77 while starters were playing Bryant at MIT’s home course, Crystal Springs Club, Haverhill, Mass.

Woźniak, playing No. 1, and Vining, playing No. 6, hit a half point each for MIT by halving their matches with Bryant. Bryant won the other five matches. Keeth, playing No. 2, and Vining shared low gross for MIT with 81, but Keeth lost his match to Bryant freshman Al Martino who had a 77. MIT’s No. 4 man, Pat Schultz ’75, ran into another Bryant freshman, Larry Ostrower, who turned in a 76, low gross for Bryant, while Sherman, playing No. 3, hit a 4-up to a birdie on the par 5 18th hole. Dave Becker ’74, playing No. 7, lost his match 4 and 3, then proceeded to take two pars and a birdie on his final three holes.

Next Wednesday, the team plays a triangular match against Boston College and Bentley College at Saddle Hill in Hopkinton.

IM Football Scores

A League

Ashland 27 - Dymon 0

S.A.E. ’A’ 14 - DTD 0

B.T.D. (by)

B1 League

TC 22 - EBT 7

DU 15 - S.A.E. ’B’ 0

MacGee ‘B’ 25 - SPE 12

B2 League

Hydraulics 25 - ASIFS 20

East Campus ’B’ 25 - ASIFS 2

Chen 8 (by)

C1 League

Santer House 6 - Barlow 2

MacGee ‘C’ 12 - TC ‘C’ 12

SAM 25 - DTP 10

C2 League

ASP 20 - Center Three 19

Rohrer 6 - PID 6

PET 12 - DACE 6

C4 League

PCE 19 - East Campus ‘A’

TCD 13 - Student Home 0

PCE 19 - East Campus ‘C’

C5 League

Baron Five 33 - East Campus ‘D’ 18

PID ‘D’ 13 (MacGregor ‘D’ 6

Economics ‘90)

C6 League

MacGregor ‘B’ 26 - Math Dept. 6

CP 18 - ATO 2

SAE ‘80 - SHM 6

ON DECK

Special note of some interest this weekend’s schedule is the water polo tournament to be held here at MIT this weekend. Though the MIT team has had varsity status for only two years now, it has proved to be one of the best teams in the nation, and qualified for the national championships in 1969.

It should also be noted here that all MIT sports events are free, and open to the public. What the players play better if there is someone there to root for them. MIT has more than enough for anyone, but if there is a wide variety to choose from.

Friday

Baseball (V) – Boston College, home, 4 pm

Water Polo (V) – MIT Tournament, Army, Harvard, Bowdoin, Brown, Northeastern, Boston University

Saturday

Soccer (V&JVIF) – Trinity, away, 11 a.m.

Cross Country (V&JVIF) – Coast Guard, Wesleyan at Yale, 11 a.m.

Baseball (V) – ECAC at Hanover, N.H.

Women’s Sailing (V) – Novice Regatta at MIT, 12:30 pm

Women’s Sailing (F) – Invitational at Stonestown, 12:30 pm

Sunday

Men’s Sailing (F) – Dartmouth Trophy at Coast Guard, 10 a.m.

Men’s Sailing (F) – Invitational at Dartmouth

Baseball (V) – Holy Cross, home, 1 p.m.

Men’s Sailing (V) – Obie Trophy at MIT, 9:30 a.m.