Police Blotter is a compilation prepared by Campus Patrol to report crimes occurring in the MIT community.

10/26/73
Recovery of stolen motor vehicle in the Kresge Parking Lot. Stolen from Somerville on October 25, 1973. Turned over to CPD.

Report of a wallet theft from locker in Kresge Gym, October 27, 1973. Wallet contained $300.00, drivers license and the usual personal cards, photos, papers, etc. No suspects.

10/27/73
Student reports he observed a subject sitting in his car parked in the Westgate Parking Lot. Upon inquiry he was told to "mind his own business." Subject sitting in his car was not chained for a period of three minutes. Bicycle was left unattended in the Westgate Parking Lot.

10/28/73
Hall. Bicycle was left unattended near the residence hall. Ignition had been tampered with. Bicycle was restored.

10/29/73
Report of a bicycle theft in the Kresge Parking Lot. Bicycle was left unattended near the residence hall. Ignition had been tampered with. Bicycle was restored.

11/2/73

11/3/73
Unsuccessful attempt of a larceny of a Motor Vehicle on a Memorial Drive. Ignition tampered with.

Report of three unsuccessful attempts to steal motor vehicles from the Albany Garage. Vent window in each attempt were forced open.

Students protest proposed Ashdown rent increase

by Fred Hutchison

Switching to sugar from fructose is not as easy as it seems. The body's chemistry is set for fructose, which is more simply and more efficiently metabolized. The body is set to use fructose for energy and for transport. Switching to sugar is a waste of energy. Sugar contains no vitamins, no minerals, no protein. Sugar contains only calories — as many as 30 per rounded teaspoon.

As a public service message brought to you by the Public Communication, Inc.

We are forcing a nationwide decision on the issue of the sugar tax. "What should we do about this issue of sweet stuff?"

America has turned into a nation of sugar addicts. In 1972 we consumed an average 126 pounds of sweetened foods and drinks per person. More than two pounds a week for each person. Enough sugar to cause serious danger to your teeth, general health and possibly your heart.

If you think you're not eating as much sugar as the average American, you're probably mistaken. Much of our sugar intake is hidden in sweetened foods like soft drinks and soda pop, cakes and candies, desserts and cereals, and even in sauces and frozen vegetables.

It's high time we stopped the sugar talk about that sweet stuff. Here are some bitter facts from doctors, nutritionists and the U.S. government.

Sugar contains no vitamins, no minerals, no protein. Sugar contains only calories — as many as 30 per rounded teaspoon.

Soda is not a necessary part of a balanced diet — you do not need to eat sugar at all since a healthy body converts all the energy it needs from other foods.

What should you do about this issue of sweet stuff? Now that you know that sugar is not all sweetness and light, here are a few suggestions. Skip pre-sweetened cereals, try a little fresh fruit on regular cereal instead. Cut less sugar — rumble it at all — in your coffee or tea. Stop using sweeteners as a reward to children for good behavior (or you run the risk of giving them a sweet tooth for life). Switch to snacks and drinks like nuts, raw fruits, whole and skimmed milk and unsweetened fruit juices.

There will be hearings for the COMMITTEES on:

Nov. 7—EUROPEAN OPPORTUNITY (Leon Trilling, x-37481)

Nov. 7—STUDENT ENVIRONMENT (David Maxner, x-3991)

Nov. 12—LIBRARY SYSTEM (Stanley Backer, x-3228)

Nov. 12—WAGE AND SALARY REVIEW (Larry Maguire, x-4971)

Nov. 14—COMMUNITY SERVICE FUND BOARD

(Joe Collins, x-1958)

Nov. 14—FOREIGN SCHOLARSHIP (William Locke, x-5243)

Nov. 14—VISUAL ARTS (Joanne Silker, x-5079)

Nov. 18—EDUCATIONAL ADVISORY—MIT-WELLESLEY UPWARD BOUND STEERING (Louis Menand, x-3752)

For more information about the above committees, please call the listed chairman.

All those undergraduates interested in applying for the above committees must schedule a hearing at Room 403 of the Student Center, x-2369, no later than 4pm the day of the interview.

THE NOMINATIONS COMMITTEE

PAGE 2 TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1973 THE TECH
Vidal describes 'State of Union'

(Continued from page 1)

that, in his view, "Scandal is prevalent in the United States."

When asked by a member of the audience "What will happen after Watergate?" Vidal replied, "I really don't want Watergate to end. I'm a Watergate addict - I missed the entire Vietnam War because of Watergate."

If Nixon were to resign or be impeached before the confirmation of Gerald Ford, Vidal said, "[Speaker of the House Carl Albert] should appoint a Republican to be President and then resign. It's the party that has kept the other 95.6% from questioning things for almost 200 years."

When questioned about his theory of politics, Vidal replied, "The reason that Massachusetts didn't vote for Nixon was that politics here have been corrupt so long that you recognized Nixon for what he really would have to be."

Vidal predicted that "Nixon will be gone by December," and said, "We [Nixon] aren't trying to stay President - he's trying to stay out of jail."

Vidal gave his view of American politics in general: "There's only one political party in America — the Property Party. It's the party of the 4.4% of the population of this country who own most of the businesses and resources. It's the party which has kept the other 95.6% from questioning things for almost 200 years."

Massachusetts politics came in for some knock; "The reason that Massachusetts didn't vote for Nixon was that politics here have been corrupt so long that you recognized Nixon for what he really would have to be," Vidal said.

"Citizen, not sovereign," Vidal replied to a question on the nomination of Ford for the vice presidency by pointing out, "Nixon appointed him," and adding, "Nixon also appointed Agnew. I wouldn't be surprised," he continued, "if one turned out as poorly as the other."

Vidal cited the opinion of Chief Justice John Marshall, who served under President Thomas Jefferson. The president is a citizen, not a sovereign, Nixon tends to forget this quite often.

The speech at the Soviet Union, which the Nixon-Kissinger Administration claims as its major accomplishment, is not as important as "watching our own military," according to Vidal. "We should cool it with the Soviets," Vidal said. "After all, they don't have all the experience that our military has when it comes to waging wars 8,000 miles away.

Send your stories, non-fiction, photos, drawings, and poems — NOW — to East Campus Box C. Deadline this Friday, Nov. 9.

Now that you're used to MIT...

get to know the Institute.

Two months ago, the term was just beginning. Freshmen didn't know their way around, and were uncertain about the demands the Institute life for new term. Involvement with extra-curricular activities was pretty far from everyone's mind.

But now the term is almost over; and you can see that your academic work is not going to overwhelm you. Maybe now — now that you know MIT — you'd like to get to know the Institute.

The Tech is one of the best places to do that. Working for The Tech you can keep your finger on the pulse-beat of the Institute (freeble as it may be) you can get to know MIT — and the people that keep it going — far better than anywhere else.

There are tangible benefits, too. Working on the photo or news staffs can give you practical experience that will last a lifetime. Even engineers and scientists — especially engineers and scientists — need writing skills for effective communication of ideas. And our business and production staffs get salaries for their work.

So — now that you've got it together — get together with the organization that can take you behind the scenes at MIT. Join The Tech!
people who were speaking for the President and wanting the disguise, nor did lie press him drawn. Witnesses before the subcommittee last week issued a report detailing blatant misuse of governmental agencies from top to bottom. The first instance of CIA involvement in the Watergate break-in was during a meeting with Hunt and Ehrlichman two weeks later, and Cushman testified that Hunt requested "flash alias documentation and physical disguise" with Cushman two weeks after the meeting. Hunt, the chief of staff then suggested Hunt elaborates on the situation to Gray, in the hope that the acting FBI director wouldcurtail the investigation.

Walters testified Haldeman's suggestion was actually in the form of a "personal recommendation." The White House continued to explore the possibility that Hunt had involved, and Walters said former Nixon aide John Dean asked that the FBI be set up in the White House to use the CIA to cover up involvement in the Watergate break-in stilling FBI inquiry. Following the June 17, 1972, aborted break-in into the Watergate headquarters of the Democratic national committee, the White House had called Ehrlichman to say the Agency was serving as a White House consultant. The CIA, according to former agent and subcommittee chairman Joseph E. Califano, is "a service organization for the intelligence community and currently to the Chief Executive." The White House submitted top secret reports and documents over governmental agencies such as CIA and FBI. The CIA, according to Califano, was more interested in getting the job done than in making sure the job was done unimproper and "had no support in reason or law." The subcommittee began its probe of CIA activities on May 11, 1973, and during the ensuing five months interviewed more than forty, including former White House aids, Watergate defendants Howard Hunt and James McCord, G. Gordon Liddy relied to testify, and the testimony of former C.I.A. official Bob Cushman. In the midst of a growing controversy over the President's role in the break-in, the Senate Watergate committee indicated that some very interesting findings, strongly suggesting that a number of the President's aids were directly involved, were still in the works of the subcommittee last week issued a report detailing blatant misuse of governmental agencies from top to bottom. The first instance of CIA involvement in the Watergate break-in was during a meeting with Hunt and Ehrlichman two weeks later, and Cushman testified that Hunt requested "flash alias documentation and physical disguise" with Cushman two weeks after the meeting. Hunt, the chief of staff then suggested Hunt elaborates on the situation to Gray, in the hope that the acting FBI director wouldcurtail the investigation.

Walters testified Haldeman's suggestion was actually in the form of a "personal recommendation." The White House continued to explore the possibility that Hunt had involved, and Walters said former Nixon aide John Dean asked that the FBI be set up in the White House to use the CIA to cover up involvement in the Watergate break-in stilling FBI inquiry. Following the June 17, 1972, aborted break-in into the Watergate headquarters of the Democratic national committee, the White House had called Ehrlichman to say the Agency was serving as a White House consultant. The CIA, according to former agent and subcommittee chairman Joseph E. Califano, is "a service organization for the intelligence community and currently to the Chief Executive." The White House submitted top secret reports and documents over governmental agencies such as CIA and FBI. The CIA, according to Califano, was more interested in getting the job done than in making sure the job was done unimproper and "had no support in reason or law." The subcommittee began its probe of CIA activities on May 11, 1973, and during the ensuing five months interviewed more than forty, including former White House aids, Watergate defendants Howard Hunt and James McCord, G. Gordon Liddy relied to testify, and the testimony of former C.I.A. official Bob Cushman. In the midst of a growing controversy over the President's role in the break-in, the Senate Watergate committee indicated that some very interesting findings, strongly suggesting that a number of the President's aids were directly involved, were still in the works of the subcommittee last week issued a report detailing blatant misuse of governmental agencies from top to bottom. The first instance of CIA involvement in the Watergate break-in was during a meeting with Hunt and Ehrlichman two weeks later, and Cushman testified that Hunt requested "flash alias documentation and physical disguise" with Cushman two weeks after the meeting. Hunt, the chief of staff then suggested Hunt elaborates on the situation to Gray, in the hope that the acting FBI director wouldcurtail the investigation.

Walters testified Haldeman's suggestion was actually in the form of a "personal recommendation." The White House continued to explore the possibility that Hunt had involved, and Walters said former Nixon aide John Dean asked that the FBI be set up in the White House to use the CIA to cover up involvement in the Watergate break-in stilling FBI inquiry. Following the June 17, 1972, aborted break-in into the Watergate headquarters of the Democratic national committee, the White House had called Ehrlichman to say the Agency was serving as a White House consultant. The CIA, according to former agent and subcommittee chairman Joseph E. Califano, is "a service organization for the intelligence community and currently to the Chief Executive." The White House submitted top secret reports and documents over governmental agencies such as CIA and FBI. The CIA, according to Califano, was more interested in getting the job done than in making sure the job was done unimproper and "had no support in reason or law." The subcommittee began its probe of CIA activities on May 11, 1973, and during the ensuing five months interviewed more than forty, including former White House aids, Watergate defendants Howard Hunt and James McCord, G. Gordon Liddy relied to testify, and the testimony of former C.I.A. official Bob Cushman. In the midst of a growing controversy over the President's role in the break-in, the Senate Watergate committee indicated that some very interesting findings, strongly suggesting that a number of the President's aids were directly involved, were still in the works of the subcommittee last week issued a report detailing blatant misuse of governmental agencies from top to bottom. The first instance of CIA involvement in the Watergate break-in was during a meeting with Hunt and Ehrlichman two weeks later, and Cushman testified that Hunt requested "flash alias documentation and physical disguise" with Cushman two weeks after the meeting. Hunt, the chief of staff then suggested Hunt elaborates on the situation to Gray, in the hope that the acting FBI director wouldcurtail the investigation.

Walters testified Haldeman's suggestion was actually in the form of a "personal recommendation." The White House continued to explore the possibility that Hunt had involved, and Walters said former Nixon aide John Dean asked that the FBI be set up in the White House to use the CIA to cover up involvement in the Watergate break-in stilling FBI inquiry. Following the June 17, 1972, aborted break-in into the Watergate headquarters of the Democratic national committee, the White House had called Ehrlichman to say the Agency was serving as a White House consultant. The CIA, according to former agent and subcommittee chairman Joseph E. Califano, is "a service organization for the intelligence community and currently to the Chief Executive." The White House submitted top secret reports and documents over governmental agencies such as CIA and FBI. The CIA, according to Califano, was more interested in getting the job done than in making sure the job was done unimproper and "had no support in reason or law." The subcommittee began its probe of CIA activities on May 11, 1973, and during the ensuing five months interviewed more than forty, including former White House aids, Watergate defendants Howard Hunt and James McCord, G. Gordon Liddy relied to testify, and the testimony of former C.I.A. official Bob Cushman. In the midst of a growing controversy over the President's role in the break-in, the Senate Watergate committee indicated that some very interesting findings, strongly suggesting that a number of the President's aids were directly involved, were still in the works of the subcommittee last week issued a report detailing blatant misuse of governmental agencies from top to bottom. The first instance of CIA involvement in the Watergate break-in was during a meeting with Hunt and Ehrlichman two weeks later, and Cushman testified that Hunt requested "flash alias documentation and physical disguise" with Cushman two weeks after the meeting. Hunt, the chief of staff then suggested Hunt elaborates on the situation to Gray, in the hope that the acting FBI director wouldcurtail the investigation.
WASHINGTON, NOV 4 -- The resigning President goes this weekend; Washington waits to see who will resign.

On the weekend, the Detroit News, the New York Times and other papers carried a report that Richard Nixon will resign on Monday.

On Friday night, at a speech at Kansas University, a conservative columnist William Buckley, brother of Sen. James Buckley, Conn., NY, said that he thought Nixon would resign due to the impact of the Watergate crisis. Buckley is of the opinion that Nixon will resign when he is asked to do so by a group of senators which must include some Republicans.

Buckley did not offer an estimate of when such a group would form, or on what other issues Mr. Nixon can be hounded by allegations of scandal sur-

President.

On Monday morning, D.C., on the floor of the House, John Dean, lawyer in the Watergate investigation, held a press conference and denied that he had discussed Watergate with the President.

As Barber puts it, the ultimate politi-
They also discussed a number of small part, of their active-negative character-

Buckley described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

In the book, a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

Barber described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

President.

On Monday morning, D.C., on the floor of the House, John Dean, lawyer in the Watergate investigation, held a press conference and denied that he had discussed Watergate with the President.

As Barber puts it, the ultimate politi-

Buckley described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

Barber described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

President.

On Monday morning, D.C., on the floor of the House, John Dean, lawyer in the Watergate investigation, held a press conference and denied that he had discussed Watergate with the President.

As Barber puts it, the ultimate politi-

Buckley described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

Barber described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

President.

On Monday morning, D.C., on the floor of the House, John Dean, lawyer in the Watergate investigation, held a press conference and denied that he had discussed Watergate with the President.

As Barber puts it, the ultimate politi-

Buckley described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

Barber described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

President.

On Monday morning, D.C., on the floor of the House, John Dean, lawyer in the Watergate investigation, held a press conference and denied that he had discussed Watergate with the President.

As Barber puts it, the ultimate politi-

Buckley described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

Barber described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

President.

On Monday morning, D.C., on the floor of the House, John Dean, lawyer in the Watergate investigation, held a press conference and denied that he had discussed Watergate with the President.

As Barber puts it, the ultimate politi-

Buckley described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

Barber described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

President.

On Monday morning, D.C., on the floor of the House, John Dean, lawyer in the Watergate investigation, held a press conference and denied that he had discussed Watergate with the President.

As Barber puts it, the ultimate politi-

Buckley described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

Barber described the tragedies (Wilson the conservative, Luce empire, the now defunct magazine, for the first time in its history, as a very great need for intelligence agencies to be in the state of their knowledge and skill.

President.
Win big prizes! Be famous! Enter the Schaefer Knight & Dragon write-your-own-punchline contest.

Hey, Kids! You've got 51 chances to win!
- $25.00 cash First Prize, plus
- 50 snazzy and alluring Schaefer Knight & Dragon T-shirts to the next 50 winners.

Help! Save us from hack writers!

All you've got to do is write a solid punchline for the Schaefer Knight & Dragon cartoon printed below. Write your buffer on the handy coupon below or, if it's especially long and boring, use a separate piece of paper.

Once a Knight felt compelled to get it on and tell it like it is so he could get his head straight and put down any babble that might be doing him down. He was his own squire, a champion. One day he had a 12-pack and an ally to kick around. He owed me everything Schaefer beer and it's about time you did something for me. If you get me a limerick, I'll forget about the beer.

And the dragon did agree and did happen to the place where the Knight assumed to the local tavern where the beer was at. Several names weren't listed, but alas, he met with little success for the Knight was known by one and all to be, in the parlance of the University, an "artistic effete." But, not willing to forfeit his chance to facilitate his debilitating debt, the Dragon did repair to the campus novelty shop where he did acquire a suitably AAA/C for one gift, with the Knight, and repair to the phone booth of the local tavern where the names of several willing maidens were listed. But alas, he met with little success for the Knight was known by one and all to be, in the parlance of the University, an "artistic effete."

Once a Knight felt compelled to get it on and tell it like it is so he could get his head straight and put down any babble that might be doing him down. He was his own squire, a champion. One day he had a 12-pack and an ally to kick around. He owed me everything Schaefer beer and it's about time you did something for me. If you get me a limerick, I'll forget about the beer.

And the dragon did agree and did happen to the place where the Knight assumed to the local tavern where the beer was at. Several names weren't listed, but alas, he met with little success for the Knight was known by one and all to be, in the parlance of the University, an "artistic effete." But, not willing to forfeit his chance to facilitate his debilitating debt, the Dragon did repair to the campus novelty shop where he did acquire a suitably AAA/C for one gift, with the Knight, and repair to the phone booth of the local tavern where the names of several willing maidens were listed. But alas, he met with little success for the Knight was known by one and all to be, in the parlance of the University, an "artistic effete."

Send to: Schaefer Contest, PO Box 2934, Grand Central Station, New York, New York 10017

Name:
Address:
School:
T-SHIRT SIZE: S M L XL

Proving once again that:

In your limerick (funny, not WHETHER DESIRABLE, 2. READER’S WORD [F] THE GAMES CON UNDERTAKING OF TWO YOKE AT THE SAME HIDE IN TIME—NO, 3. POLITICAL CRISIS] THE GAMES OF IT OK.

When you're having more than one
VooDoo revival, other disasters reported in news (?) article

By Paul Schindler

MIT is about to have a humor magazine more, whether it same one or not, according to John Sorenson. "VooDoo," which was founded in 1919, and after fifty years of operation, financial causes, specifically, inability to pay $4,000 in debts, the magazine was "put to sleep," went out of business, due to a severe lapse of judgment and lack of management, poor taste, sometimes known as "mismanagement," it is sworn to prevent any future recurrence of the severe lapse of judgement and lack of management, poor taste, sometimes known as "mismanagement," it is sworn to prevent any future recurrence of the severe lapse of judgement and lack of management, poor taste, sometimes known as "mismanagement," it is sworn to prevent any future recurrence of the severe lapse of judgement and lack of management, poor taste, sometimes known as "mismanagement," it is sworn to prevent any future recurrence of the severe lapse of judgement and lack of management, poor taste, sometimes known as "mismanagement," it is sworn to prevent any future recurrence of the severe lapse of judgement and lack of management, poor taste, sometimes known as "mismanagement," it is sworn to prevent any future recurrence of the severe lapse of judgement and lack of management, poor taste, sometimes known as "mismanagement," it is sworn to prevent any future recurrence of the severe lapse of judgement and lack of management, poor taste, sometimes known as "mismanagement," it is sworn to prevent any future recurrence of the severe lapse of judgement and lack of management, poor taste, sometimes known as "mismanagement," it is sworn to prevent any future recurrence of the severe lapse of judgement and lack of management, poor taste, sometimes known as "mismanagement," it is sworn to prevent any future recurrence of the severe lapse of judgement and lack of management, poor taste, sometimes known as "mismanagement," it is sworn to prevent any future recurrence of

The demise was, Bradley got an early start in the financial area; the second officer appointed for the magazine was business manager Jerry Dussow '75. "There was one thing, just a joke," he decided to see the magazine succeed. "I figure I can make 20% off the top and still put out a magazine," he added. VD is currently using W3D-041 as a mall drop, and operating, such as it is, evenings at 232-7594.

Braden.
By Glenn Brownstein

MT evened its regular season record at 5-5-1 and goalie Richie Straff '74 picked up his 10th shutout of the year as the Engineers defeated Colby 2-0 at windy Briggs Field Saturday.

The major factor of the game was not so much the respective teams' ability to control the ball or have their way with it, but how well they could control the game. MT, with the wind in the first half, went on to take a 2-0 lead and put the game out of reach for Colby.

The Tech, however, was not so much the respective teams' ability to control the ball or have their way with it, but how well they could control the game. MT, with the wind in the first half, went on to take a 2-0 lead and put the game out of reach for Colby.

The trip back to the dock was much different. Colby, playing with the wind, had some early problems adjusting to the difference, but settled down to get a number of opportunities in MIT's end. Colby outshot the Engineers 15 to 14 during the half, but could not score, largely because of excellent goalkeeping by Straff and solid defense on the part of the MIT backs, led by MIT's captain and center halfback, Mark Ackowitz '74.

The Engineers conclude their Great Botten League and home seasons Tuesday at 2:00 against Boston College. The final game will be Saturday afternoon at Coast Guard.