Miss Vassar, '87, who has just been shown over the yacht: "I do think it's just too cosey for anything! And do you really leave those cute little steps out all the time you stay here? I should think you'd be afraid they'd float away when the tide rises."

If a body meet a body
Looking very sad,
Then a body knows a body
Failed to get an "ad."

If a body meet a body
Looking very bright,
Then a body knows a body's
"Ads" are going right.

Old lady to gruff old gentleman: "Ah, I was once like that fair one myself."

Gruff old gentleman: "Yes; once isn't many times, though."

It is all well enough to make hay while the sun shines, but you want to gather melons in the dark of the moon.

PRACTICAL PROVERBS.

For New York City. — Tammany cooks spoil the broth.

For the poker player. — None so blind as those that won't ante.

If a man wants to know how many friends he has, the only thing necessary is for him to have a billiard table in his house.
