“Nanon” has proved a decided success at the Hollis Street Theatre, and will be continued for some weeks to come. The cast is excellent, and the stage settings deserve mention.

“Arcadia,” the latest burlesque by Mr. Wm. Gill, has during the past week proved exceedingly attractive to the many who have witnessed it at the Bijou Theatre.

Large audiences have greeted the production of “The Old Homestead,” the lately brought forth sequel to “Joshua Whitcomb.” It is being played at the Boston Theatre, and will be succeeded by the appearance next week of the American Opera Company.
