HE attention of the students is called to the copy of "Public Policy" on the exchange shelves in Rogers Library. It contains a marked article on "Practical Application of Uniform Accounting to City..."

A High Example.

Reprinted from the Boston Transcript.

"The action of the students of the Institute of Technology, abolishing the cane-rush, which was last year attended with such tragic and deplorable consequences, and substituting therefor a relay race and a tug-of-war contest, was a wise and manly position to take, and will doubtless receive general public approval. There may be some difference of opinion respecting their vote to give up football, also, but we think that even with respect to that sport the reasons that seem to justify the step and the moral courage required in taking it will be conceded by all reflecting persons. There will be all the football necessary, no doubt, for sport and exercise, but it will be confined to the institution itself.

"There was no dictation in the matter, though the advice of President Pritchett was in line with the action taken, on the ground of lack of time for practice. In some institutions a record in intercollegiate football or other athletics appears to be necessary to attract students, but it is not necessary at "Tech." It has not made so conspicuous a record in this respect that it can use such a magnet, but the constantly increasing number of its students and its wider recognition all over the country shows that it does not need it.

"We do not wish to make any invidious comparisons between institutions, but this can at least be said: that there is no seat of higher learning in the country where hard and systematic work is more honored or accomplishes larger results than at the Institute of Technology. Fortunately the work is made interesting as well as hard, and opportunities are presented which students gratefully remember through all their after lives."