

THEATRE ATTRactions

Week commencing October 5, 1903.

Tremont Theatre. — The "Yankee Consul" continues to draw large and appreciative audiences. The music is of a higher class than is generally expected in modern musical productions.

Majestic Theatre. — Mr. Kirke La Shelle presents Owen Wister's fascinating story of the Wild West, "The Virginian." Rarely has a more lovable and manly character been made the central figure of a play.

Colonial Theatre. — Limited engagement of Jerome Sykes in "The Billionaire." Original Daly cast and production as seen in New York last season.

Hollis Street Theatre. — Miss Julia Marlowe in "Fools of Nature" will continue her engagement for two more weeks. Miss Marlowe enacts her rôle with her customary ability and personal charm.

Globe Theatre. — Miss Henrietta Crosman, greatly admired in Boston because of her brilliant stage work, will appear for one week as Rosalind in "As You Like It."

Park Theatre. — "Vivian's Papas" will start upon the second and last week of its engagement here. Next week, Annie Russell in "Mice and Men."

Boston Theatre. — "Quincy Adams Sawyer" will enter on its second phenomenal week. Laughter reigns supreme throughout the play.

Castle Square Theatre. — "What Happened to Jones," is being presented by the regular company; this week. Next week, "Lovers Lane."
