Now that Field Day is past those of us who were at Tech last year, or before, can realize again what the Freshman is now, for the first time, realizing — and that is, that the contest is in every way worth while. To attempt to explain why would be useless; every man who took part in the contest, either as a member of one of the teams or as a spectator, knows that Field Day is worth while, and that it will continue as the chief event in the yearly life of at least the two lower classes at Technology. So here's to Field Day 1905.

RELAY RACE.

Exciting Contest Which Ends in a Dead Heat.

Weinz and Leavell started off, running an even race until about twenty yards from the finish, when Leavell gained a few yards. For 1907 Barrows increased this lead to 10 yards. Schalling and Moody were evenly matched, the lead of 1907 being lost by bad passing. The race was even until Edmunds gained five yards for 1908, which Brooks made eight yards. The next two runners for 1907 made up the '08 lead. Orr and Richards started the last half lap with Orr two yards in the lead. Richards gradually closed up and finished on even terms with Orr after an exciting struggle at the finish. The race was declared a dead heat. Time, 5 minutes, 9 2-5 seconds. Members of both teams will receive their numerals. The men ran in the following order:

1907 — Leavell, Barrows, Moody, Beam, Bragdon, Albro, Swett, Eaton, Williams, Thomas, Very and Richards.

1908 — Weinz, Todd, Shalling, Steele, Taylor, Friedman, Edmunds, Brooks, Dwight, Belleveau, Loomis and Orr.

FOOTBALL DIAGRAM.

Explanation. In the First Half the 1907 goal is on the right for the first touchdown, and on the left for the second touchdown. In the second half the 1907 goal is on the left for the third touchdown, and on the right for the fourth touchdown.

There is absolutely no Cigarette to compare to the in smoothness, aroma and delicacy. It appeals to the "educated," not to the "hoi polloi." Please give it a trial. Made in three numbers.
