COMMUNICATION.

The Editors do not hold themselves responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.

To the Editors of The Tech:

The Walker Club begs leave to use the columns of your paper to publicly express regret at the inexcusable defalcation by the Civic Club. The Walker Club has given large loans, has accepted many excuses and has controlled its thirst too long—the time has come to expose the delinquents. We demand the Civic Club produce the leg won by the Walker Club at the joint debate.

Technology.

Optimistic opinions in regard to the growth of a collegiate spirit at Tech are subject to frequent and sudden jars. It has just become known that the number of 1906 Technicians sold to undergraduates falls short of six hundred and fifty. This means that less than one man in two at Tech supports what is perhaps the most creditable of all our student activities, and a book that will compare favorably in every way with any college annual in the country. However, the optimistic spirit is the right one, and upon the amount of our faith in the coming of a true college atmosphere will depend the speed of its perfection.
