The plan of allowing students to open deposit accounts with the Bursar is characteristic of Mr. Rand's interest in the men of Mr. Rand's Technology. In a large Thoughtful city like Boston, very Action. few banking houses will carry such small amounts as a student usually puts on deposit, and one of the difficulties of a man's college life is the need of finding a bank which will carry his account. Mr. Rands's action has solved this problem for Technology men, and the sincere thanks of the student body are due to him for his thoughtfulness in making this move.

THE TECH would ask what steps have been taken this year toward arranging a golf schedule and choosing a team. Tech does General not send out representative Athletics. tive football or baseball teams, so that the men of the two upper classes, barring the comparatively small number who take part in track, have few athletic interests. It should be the part of such upper-classmen to see that activity in the so-called minor branches of athletics does not wane.

The privilege of attending the series of lectures given each winter in Huntington Hall through the bequest of John Lowell Jr., Instructive is one that Institute men Lectures. should appreciate. All are delivered by recognized authorities, and this year two courses are directly upon scientific subjects, one of them by Professor Cross, head of the Physics Department. These certainly will be of direct interest to Institute men.

Fourteen '09 men reported at the Gym on Monday afternoon to coach Sugden to try for positions on the 1909 eleven.

All those who enter the fall tennis tournament are requested to hand in a list of the days and hours of the week on which they are able to play. The manager can then arrange hours for each contest and will post same. Failure of either man to play on the day set will be considered as a default. The first round will be played on October 7.
