Y. M. C. A. MEETING!

Markham W. Stackpole, assistant minister at the Central Congregational Church, gave a very interesting talk before the Technology Christian Association at their regular meeting, Thursday noon. He said in part, "The human body best represents the 'team work principle' which I wish to set forth. Among all its organs there is a common purpose, a subordination of its parts to a whole team consciousness. The sense of coporate responsibility is very accurate among its organs. Self individual assertion by one member, independent of the others, is entirely lacking. As a single example, the Japanese have this fundamental underlying principle of coporate responsibility and team consciousness thoroughly imbedded in their nation.
The result of the late war shows its workings."

He went on to show how, in our association work, in college, in state and national life, if the greatest good is to be accomplished, selfish individual assertion must subordinate itself to a common purpose which humanity is laboring to fulfil.
