Brown meets Harvard next Saturday in the Stadium. The game should prove interesting as the Brown team has shown unusual strength this season. The outcome of the game will also give a line on the comparative strength of Harvard and Pennsylvania as Brown played Penn last Saturday.

It is interesting to speculate on the football championship this year. Yale has never yet beaten both Harvard and Princeton on an odd year, therefore, if tradition means any thing, Yale is doomed to defeat this year. Thus far Harvard has not shown a strength that is likely to down Yale, but Princeton is an unknown quantity and may have some surprises in store for Yale.

The University of Pennsylvania football association is getting its full share of harsh criticism just now, and no doubt it is deserved. Zilligan of the football squad has been proved an out and out professional, having played for money on a Denver professional football team. No doubt he will be protested by Harvard before the Harvard—Penn game.

It is significant that no University of Pennsylvania coaches were invited to the Roosevelt football conference.

The Carlisle Indians have caught on to the methods of the white men for obtaining football material. During the past summer the Carlisle captain and coaches have canvassed the Indian reservation and the Indian Prep. Schools and have secured several husky men.
