Tech may well be proud of the results of the recent state election in that Hon. Eben S. Draper, a distinguished member of the Institute's corporation, was elected to the high office of Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts.

The rushes which will occur tomorrow after the scheduled events afford every underclassman an opportunity to take active "Down." part in the contest. But while the rushes are entirely safe when properly conducted the participants must all realize that there is great danger of injury if they are continued after anyone has fallen. Remember, then, when some one yells, "Down," stop shoving and get into line again before the others are ready.

Tomorrow is Tech's day. Some of us have our Junior Prom and the Seniors (good luck to them) have their Class Day and Technol- Commencement, but to-morrow is for all Tech.

The Cross Country run with a Harvard team comes first perhaps to bring out our Tech feeling, then follow in quick succession the track events and the football game with the tug-of-war to provide some part for every Tech man athletically inclined. Every man in the Institute should feel it as much his duty to be out to support his class or his friends on this day as it is to attend courses. One he owes to his intelligence, the other to his fellowship. Then, too, there can be no doubt that no day in the year can provide so much genuine fun and enthusiasm as Field Day. You owe it to yourselves to get out and cheer; fill your lungs with air, and your hearts with enthusiasm. Let Field Day, 1905, set a date to reckon from.

The present outlook for the Cross Country Association indicates one of the most successful cross country seasons in its history. The admission to the Intercollegiate Cross Country Association this fall is a decided step forward, and several preparatory runs have been scheduled. The first of these comes tomorrow, when Tech meets Harvard. During the past two years, Tech has won with comparative ease, winning first place each year by a long margin.

The team has sustained one serious loss in Lorenz, 05, who was captain for two years, but all the others who competed last year are back, and are running in better form than heretofore. The prospects for victory are bright. We extend our best wishes to the team in this, their first preliminary race.

LOWELL INSTITUTE.

Mr. St. Clair Bradley of Painswick, England, delivered the second of a series of eight lectures on "Ancient Rome in the Light of Recent Discoveries," in Huntington Hall, Wednesday evening, at 8 p.m. About two hundred people attended, showing much interest in the lecture. This is the Fourth Course of the Lowell Institute; the remainder of the lectures come on the following Mondays and Thursdays.
