Castle Square Theatre.
Both as a novel and play, "A Lady of Quality" has attracted widespread attention during the past ten years. Not long after its publication it was made by the author, Frances Hodgson Burnett, into a strong emotional drama, and it was then immediately secured by Julia Arthur for the opening season of her starring career. It was an immediate success, its pictures of English life among the nobility and its sensational episodes bringing forth praise from all classes of players. "A Lady of Quality" has not been seen in Boston for some years, and its revival at the Castle Square Theatre this week will bring it for the first time before a considerable public that has never had opportunity to witness its stirring scenes and romantic characters. The stage settings will be picturesque and beautiful, the costumes exactly representative of the period, and the cast will enlist the services of the entire Castle Square Stock Company. The leading roles will be played by John Craig and Lillian Kemble.
