‘AT THE THEATRES.

Tremont Theatre.

It was a foregone conclusion that Miss Paula Edwards would in "Princess Beggar" add another huge success to her credit. Miss Edwards not only fills a most congenial role as the woodcutter’s sprightly daughter, but is afforded special opportunity for the display of cleverness which has always characterized her work. Altogether Miss Edwards’ performance proved as unconventional as it was charming throughout, and readily made plain her title to exceptional comic opera high ability. Miss Edwards’ engagement is for two weeks.

Majestic Theatre.

One of the most pronounced successes that has been scored in Boston by any play during recent years has been won at the Majestic Theatre by Charles Frohman’s magnificently picturesque and deeply moving production of "Mizpah." This beautiful retelling in theatrical fashion of the immortal Scriptural love romance of Queen Esther and King Ahasuerus by that celebrated poetess, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in collaboration with Louise Beare, has been enthusiastically praised by the Boston press in enthusiastic reviews that prove the exceptional scenic beauty and dramatic appeal of this splendid work. The unanimous verdict is that it is a triumphant Biblical drama.

Castle Square Theatre.

"The Secret of Polochnelie" is to have its first stock company performance in Boston next week. Although this play is of French origin, it is, in its American version, as clean and wholesome as if it had originated among the Puritanical hills of New England. Its success both in Paris and in this country, where it made its American debut at the Majestic Theatre, is therefore certain to arouse widespread enthusiasm.

Minnesota Men—The place of meeting of the Harvard Minnesota Club for this evening has been changed from Westminster 6 to Russell 2.
