FRIDAY, APRIL 6, 1906.

It is only with the completion of Technique that a perfect work of art has been produced. — R. W. Emorson.

As this issue of THE TECH is going into the forms the Board of Editors are enjoying their annual dinner. The present volume, which will be completed Twenty Five, the close of this term, is the twenty-fifth since the founding of The Tech, and the second since the change to its present tri-weekly form.

The Tech feels that it has distinctly attained its majority, and has won for itself at the Institute a place worthy of its first quarter century. The life at the Institute is growing larger with each year, and The Tech is finding a broader field to cover with each succeeding volume.

So the Editors need a good dinner annually to fill them for the work in hand; and they enjoy it because it furnishes occasion for a new toast to the editors of The Tech.

The price of Technique will return this year to the former price of $2.00. Though the price of the book must be fixed by Price those whose privilege is Technique, to work for it, so that many copies may be disposed of as possible, the policy which has been pursued in the past of selling Technique at a reduced price seems to us short-sighted.

The student desiring to secure a 1905 Technique may do so for one dollar, which is fifty cents less than the original price. It is to the credit of the 1906 Board that the 1906 Technique is still sold for its original value. It is earnestly hoped that this will establish a custom of doing away with reduction in the price of Technique, lest some students be tempted to wait before buying one till the price is raised to the fact that the Copley Square Hotel has exceptionally good facilities for serving Breakfasts, Luncheons or Dinners and will cater especially to this trade.
