"When Jesus saw that he answered discerely, he said unto him, Thou art not far from the kingdom of God."—St. Mark 12:34.

These words were spoken in the temple by our Lord after a long day's discussion with the Pharisees and Sadducees on the occasion of His last public teaching. The text is the final reply of our Lord to a question of one of the scribes: "Tell us, which is the first commandment of all?" Our Lord's reply embodies the old Testament thoughts: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy might and thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Then the scribe said: "Well, Master thou hast said the truth: for there is one God; and there is none other than he: And to love him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soul, and with all the strength and to love his neighbor as himself is more than all whole burnt offerings." And when Jesus saw that he had answered correctly he said unto him, "Thou art not far from the kingdom of God."

Will you stand apart in the community, where you shall live, like the scribe of old, with an ideal of goodness which is complimentary to the life you have lived? Will you revere Jesus Christ as the ideal Master and Lord enter His kingdom and labor loyally for its advancement? I crave for the church of Jesus the open allegiance of all morally earnest, thoughtful men, not merely for their own sake but for her sake. The church needs you. Jesus Christ needs you, and in how you are to serve him you will find the satisfaction of your highest moral impulses and your perfect freedom.
