The Tech notices with pleasure the announcement that Professor Swan will resume the course of readings begun last year and will continue them throughout the present term. Last year the students in the Civil and Sanitary Courses were invited to a series of readings on general subjects which the reader thought helpful and inspiring to young men in college. Technical subjects were not included and among the selections were many examples not only of biography and essays but of the broadest thinkers of our time. It has always what it should have been.

The Freshmen’s only score was made in three minutes of play, during which the team did its only good playing. After that the team seemed to go to pieces, and Washington College, which the team did its only good playing.
