YALE-HARVARD PROSPECTS.

The Yale football coaches went into conference Monday as if "board of strategy" to plan the attack on Harvard next Saturday. Reports received from those who saw the Harvard-Dartmouth game have not caused any alarm at Yale, although it is realized that Harvard will be a much stronger and crisper foe against Yale than against Dartmouth.

The whole Yale team, with the exception of Erwin, right guard, and Forbes, left end, remained at Hastings-on-the-Hudson until last night. The men are taking a rest and will have only one hard practice this week. Beyond saying that "Booie" will be turned loose on Harvard in the second half, if not earlier," the Yale coaches will not alter the personnel of the team of last Saturday.

The Harvard squad had light work Monday. Burr, Kerberg, Osdann, Wendell, and Orr, taking a vacation. Yesterday the practice was light again, but today in the last practice in Cambridge, the work will be stiffened up. The college men are to be admitted to the gallery, and will get the team a good send-off before the big game.
