Honor Samuel Cabot.

One Hundred Upper Classmen Pay Last Respects to Memory of Loved Alumnus.

In response to the call of the Home Council and the desire to represent Technology at the funereal service for the late Samuel Cabot, the Student Union in King Chapel, a large number assembled in 6 Lowell to do honor to the memory of one whose name had proved himself a true friend of the Institute.

R. Allan, president of the Senior Class, who addressed the meeting, announced that not more than one hundred men could be seated in the little church, and stated that the names of the guests would be picked from the two upper classes.

The procession formed in front of the Student Union, and four abreast down Clarendon and Beacon Streets to King's Chapel, where special arrangements were made in the gallery.

The large number of friends who assembled to remember one who has always been interested in the progress of this institution was evidenced by the respect and admiration in which the memory of one who has always proved himself a true friend of the Institute.
