It was "down and out" for Boston College and twice at that. The two Technology basketball teams that play as Tech teams had seldom before played, and in two games full of brilliant individual and fast teamwork. The Regional Hill boys, the Varsity winning 40 to 23, and the Second defeating the Varsity, 43 to 33.

The Varsity had everything its way in the first half, the score ending with the score 32 to 6. The men played all around the visitors, breaking up their plays and throwing goals with the greatest of ease. Boston College was kept moving throughout the half and only by the hardest work prevented from getting the higher score. Every man on the team did great work, and Pierce and Bieder were especially prominent. Bieder made fourteen of Tech's points, Pierce twelve and Cahill twenty-five points behind.

In the second half the Varsity put up a little and Boston College played a game that let the visitors pile up seventeen points while Tech was getting twelve. The ball was frequently fought, but did not show the fine points that the first half brought out.

The second team also played a great game, and revenged themselves for the defeat of 25 to 10 given them earlier in the season from the Boston College Federation. Hargraves was the star of the team, throwing eight baskets, the record for the evening.

Visitors Go Down to Defeat Twice in Hoped Fought Games.

One of the most successful and enjoyable concerts that the Musical Clubs have yet given was the Annual Winter Concert and Dance, held last evening in the New Century Building. Over five hundred people were present at this delightful and nearly half that number remained for the dance.

The program for the concert was a noticeably well balanced one and well adapted to college musical clubs. It was substantially the same as that of the last few concerts of the club, and their excellent rendering of the numbers was ample proof of the faith and patient perseverance that they have put into the work. The pieces given by the Glee Club were especially well received and they were forced to answer repeated encores.

The solos by W. B. Jenkins, '99, O. G. Pales, '07, and A. H. Thompson, '06, were very well rendered and added greatly to the enjoyment of the program.

After the concert a dinner of fourteen numbers was held in Howe Hall, the music being furnished by Poole's Orchestra. The guests were: Mrs. Alfred E. Burton, Mrs. Walter Humphreys, Mrs. Arthur G. Robbins, and Mr. Robert H. Thompson. The last number of the concert was "The Stein Song" by the Glee Club and the entire house stood up, and, by joining in the chorus, helped to bring the concert to a strikingly enthusiastic close. At the conclusion of the program Dr. Keyser, president of the Glee Club, called for a Tech cheer, and all responded with a very rousing enthusiastic cheer that almost shook the walls.

The concert hall had been tastefully decorated with Tech flags, furnished by A. H. Tashjian, '00. After the concert a dance was given in the lounge of the Student Club.

CONCERT A SUCCESS.

Up to this time about one hundred and fifty men have had physical examinations and all will be repeated before Jan. Mr. Towne, who is in charge of the physical training department, will shortly announce the results of group examinations taken from the recent refreshments.

The classes will be discontinued during the vacation, but it is hoped that the large attendance of the past few weeks will be continued after the holidays.

COLLEGE MEN SAVE SHUT-DOWN

A strike was called at the General Electric works at Schenec- tady, N. Y., last week, by some of the Industrial Workers of the World because three of their members were discharged. General Man- ager G. E. Emmons says that if it was maintained the entire plant will be closed and 15,000 men thrown out of employ- ment. The shutdown was suspended in the absence of the strike, but the power house will have been closed and the works tied up had it not been for the fact that several young college men from the testing department took the places of the workmen.
