PROVISIONAL.

PLANT TEST.

104 Hour Test on Lowell Plant New in Progress.

The 104 hour test on the Lowell Plant began Tuesday morning at about 9 o'clock. This test is being conducted by seniors from Courses II, VI, X, XIII, the men working in eight-hour shifts. During the day, the big compound engine is run alone, at four western tours early in the coming season. The trip will probably be a week's duration. College teams only will be played. Games have already been arranged with the University of Michigan and Oberlin College. William Lander, the ex-New York Giants' third baseman, who will coach Williams this year, expects to spend a week during the month of February with the squad in the cage, and to return at the end of March to remain with the team until the end of the season. Last year's nine, with the exception of Capt. Neil and Officer, Dough, is intact. The candidates will be called out for try-outs in the cage by Capt. Ford about the middle of January.

The Cornell track team has a hard winter schedule ahead. It has been almost decided to have four western tours early in the coming season. The trip will probably be a week's duration. College teams only will be played. Games have already been arranged with the University of Michigan and Oberlin College. William Lander, the ex-New York Giants' third baseman, who will coach Williams this year, expects to spend a week during the month of February with the squad in the cage, and to return at the end of March to remain with the team until the end of the season. Last year's nine, with the exception of Capt. Neil and Officer, Dough, is intact. The candidates will be called out for try-outs in the cage by Capt. Ford about the middle of January.

The Cornell track team has a hard winter schedule ahead. It has been almost decided to have four western tours early in the coming season. The trip will probably be a week's duration. College teams only will be played. Games have already been arranged with the University of Michigan and Oberlin College. William Lander, the ex-New York Giants' third baseman, who will coach Williams this year, expects to spend a week during the month of February with the squad in the cage, and to return at the end of March to remain with the team until the end of the season. Last year's nine, with the exception of Capt. Neil and Officer, Dough, is intact. The candidates will be called out for try-outs in the cage by Capt. Ford about the middle of January.

The Cornell track team has a hard winter schedule ahead. It has been almost decided to have four western tours early in the coming season. The trip will probably be a week's duration. College teams only will be played. Games have already been arranged with the University of Michigan and Oberlin College. William Lander, the ex-New York Giants' third baseman, who will coach Williams this year, expects to spend a week during the month of February with the squad in the cage, and to return at the end of March to remain with the team until the end of the season. Last year's nine, with the exception of Capt. Neil and Officer, Dough, is intact. The candidates will be called out for try-outs in the cage by Capt. Ford about the middle of January.

The Cornell track team has a hard winter schedule ahead. It has been almost decided to have four western tours early in the coming season. The trip will probably be a week's duration. College teams only will be played. Games have already been arranged with the University of Michigan and Oberlin College. William Lander, the ex-New York Giants' third baseman, who will coach Williams this year, expects to spend a week during the month of February with the squad in the cage, and to return at the end of March to remain with the team until the end of the season. Last year's nine, with the exception of Capt. Neil and Officer, Dough, is intact. The candidates will be called out for try-outs in the cage by Capt. Ford about the middle of January.

The Cornell track team has a hard winter schedule ahead. It has been almost decided to have four western tours early in the coming season. The trip will probably be a week's duration. College teams only will be played. Games have already been arranged with the University of Michigan and Oberlin College. William Lander, the ex-New York Giants' third baseman, who will coach Williams this year, expects to spend a week during the month of February with the squad in the cage, and to return at the end of March to remain with the team until the end of the season. Last year's nine, with the exception of Capt. Neil and Officer, Dough, is intact. The candidates will be called out for try-outs in the cage by Capt. Ford about the middle of January.

The Cornell track team has a hard winter schedule ahead. It has been almost decided to have four western tours early in the coming season. The trip will probably be a week's duration. College teams only will be played. Games have already been arranged with the University of Michigan and Oberlin College. William Lander, the ex-New York Giants' third baseman, who will coach Williams this year, expects to spend a week during the month of February with the squad in the cage, and to return at the end of March to remain with the team until the end of the season. Last year's nine, with the exception of Capt. Neil and Officer, Dough, is intact. The candidates will be called out for try-outs in the cage by Capt. Ford about the middle of January.

The Cornell track team has a hard winter schedule ahead. It has been almost decided to have four western tours early in the coming season. The trip will probably be a week's duration. College teams only will be played. Games have already been arranged with the University of Michigan and Oberlin College. William Lander, the ex-New York Giants' third baseman, who will coach Williams this year, expects to spend a week during the month of February with the squad in the cage, and to return at the end of March to remain with the team until the end of the season. Last year's nine, with the exception of Capt. Neil and Officer, Dough, is intact. The candidates will be called out for try-outs in the cage by Capt. Ford about the middle of January.

The Cornell track team has a hard winter schedule ahead. It has been almost decided to have four western tours early in the coming season. The trip will probably be a week's duration. College teams only will be played. Games have already been arranged with the University of Michigan and Oberlin College. William Lander, the ex-New York Giants' third baseman, who will coach Williams this year, expects to spend a week during the month of February with the squad in the cage, and to return at the end of March to remain with the team until the end of the season. Last year's nine, with the exception of Capt. Neil and Officer, Dough, is intact. The candidates will be called out for try-outs in the cage by Capt. Ford about the middle of January.