The rise of the Intercollegiate Fencing Association.

At the recent meeting of the Intercollegiate Fencing Association, Technology was again refused admittance. The West Point representative opined that the election of Admitance by any new members to the association on the ground that the membership is already too large and that the present unwieldiness would only be aggravated. The past success of the Technology Fencing Team entitles it to a more prominent place in the college year from September to June.

The Theatre Committee had stooped to the report as submitted by this enterprise for the season, and the members of the "Og09" were, to say the least, taken by surprise that "The Tech," however, regrets that such precedents have been established, for an important business transaction must be handled in such a manner as to be satisfactorily undertaken.

With the arrangement of a race between the varsity crews of Syracuse University and Wisconsin, a new era in intercollegiate athletics of Syracuse's is believed to be at hand. With the rise of the Orange from obscurity to her present proud position as the leader of the younger institutions of the country and the rival of many of the older ones, has grown the spirit of assistance which Syracuse desires to give as much as she can to her sport.
