TREMONT THEATRE.

The good ship Dockstader, loaded to the gunwales with minstrel novelties, has reached the Tremont Theatre, where one more week of joy and fun will reign. Mr. Dockstader this year has fairly outdone himself in the matter of novelties. Lew Dockstader's name has always been the synonym for a performance full of surprises, but this season he provides an entertainment so refreshing in its newness as to call forth the praise of critics everywhere.

COLONIAL THEATRE

Henry B. Irving will be following in his father's footsteps for his first night at the Colonial Theatre. He has been splendidly received in Boston upon his first professional engagement here, and his London company headed by Dorothea Baird has shared the praise so generously accorded by Bostonians. The first week will be devoted to repertoire, the plays being many of the favorites of the star's father, the late Sir Henry Irving. The program will be "The Lyons Mart," and "King Rene's Daughter," Monday and Friday nights, and Wednesday matinee; "The Bells" and "King Rene's Daughter," Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights; "King Charles I," Wednesday night; "Markheim and Mauricette," Saturday matinee.

We wish to call the attention of students who have any baggage work to do to Phillips' Express. Mr. Phillips, the proprietor, is well known to many of the Tech men and has always been ready to assist any of the publications which have been undertaken by the students, and we can recommend him to any one as being very reliable. His advertisement will be found in another column.
