PUMPING AND HOISTING MACHINERY.

Mr. T. W. Sprague delivered the third lecture in his course on "Electricity in Mining" in a Rogers, at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He dealt chiefly with the use of electricity in pumping and hoisting machinery.

His opening remarks referred to the proper stringing of wires, and the choice of high or low voltage, taking into account economy and safety. The latter part of the lecture was illustrated with lantern slides showing different forms of electric-driven pumps and a great many different makes of electric hoists. Mr. Sprague wished to show that the use of these hoists was not "in its infancy" as some people maintain. One very interesting slide was a photograph of a truck, fitted up to draw coke from the ovens and load it into cars by means of electric power. The last lecture of this course will occur next Monday.

Harvard and the Naval Academy will meet in a foot-ball game next season for the first time in the history of the institutions. The game will be played on October 6 at Annapolis.
