THE TECH DINES.

The Tech held its annual banquet at the American House on Wednesday evening, seventeen members of the editorial and business staffs being present. Mr. F. C. Stilley, of the Boston Globe gave a deeply interesting insight into modern newspaper work, telling of a number of ludicrous situations which he had encountered in his work on several American daily papers, varying from the lane to a cattle boat to a gruesome night spent in a morgue.

The other invited guests, President Pritchett, Mr. Seaver, Burrail Rand, and Mr. John Mahan, were unfortunately unable to attend. Mr. E. Denny, '08, who officiated as toastmaster, read a note of regret from President Pritchett, who was at the time in New York.

Technique '08, furnished the beer in lieu of the leg that was not forthcoming at the recent game so hardily won by the Tech's aggregation of ball tossers and sluggers.

FINAL HEAT RUN OFF.

Owing to the fact that four Tech men qualified for the finals in the 100 yard dash at Maine, entirely shutting out Maine, the finals were not run off until Tuesday at the Field. Blackburn did not run and so Goudal, in place alongside of Capt. Richards, Gran, and Fernstrom. All got off together at the gun, but Richards led by a small margin up to 90 yards. Here Gran forged to the front and won out by the smallest possible margin. It was nearly a dead heat, and some time was taken by the judges to come to an opinion. The third place was not given out. Capt. Richards won his second place, Goudal third and Fernstrom fourth.

CONOLLY'S CO-EDS.

At the annual banquet of the Cornell College of Arts and Sciences recently held at Ithaca, the men vigorously applauded addresses advocating the complete segregation of the co-ed. The opening gun was fired by Prof. Everett W. Olmsted of the French department.

Professor Olmsted opposed the participation of the girls in the class elections, urged their elimination from the management of such university publications as the Cornellian and Class Book, declared that their participation in a class day detracted from the dignity of that occasion, and insisted that they have a class day and graduation ceremonies of their own, which might be modelled upon those of other women's colleges. Finally, he expressed the hope that soon women would be debarred from the men's classes, and at least have separate instruction, if not a separate faculty. His remarks were greeted with enthusiastic applause.

The research work carried on in the industrial laboratory by Miss Cederholm, Mr. Bent, and Mr. Dill, all '08, under the direction of Professor Walker, has produced some very instructive and valuable data in regard to the causes of corrosion of iron and steel, and the influence of the various constituents of the alloys upon their deterioration through rust.

Much of the material will be presented at the spring meeting of the American Association for Testing Materials.
