PROF. DEWEY WRITES.

at the Institute, Class of 1889, Course IX, has just brought out a new book entitled "Money and Investments."

The opening chapters are brief and contain a great deal of excellent advice for would-be investors and of warning to amateur speculators. The greater part of the work consists of a dictionary, or rather a cyclopedia of the terms used in business and finance. This is the most satisfactory work of the kind that has yet appeared. The explanations are clear, accurate and usually include much more than a mere definition. For example, under "Postal Savings Banks," is found a brief description of the system established in the Philippines in 1906, and some statistics of the British system instituted in 1861.

The book supplies a real need and is a very important contribution to the literature of finance.

TECH ARCHITECTS TO EXHIBIT

Twenty-six Drawings sent to Carnegie Institute.

The Department of Architecture will be represented by 26 drawings at the coming exhibition of the Pittsburgh Architectural Club in the art galleries recently dedicated in the Carnegie Institute. This is to be the largest and in importance the most far-reaching exhibition of international character ever held in this country. Exhibits are expected from all the leading architects from England, Scotland, France, Germany, and Austria. The Exhibition will open November 9, and closes December 1, 1907. Tech, Cornell, University of Pennsylvania, and the American Society of Beaux Arts are among the other institutions represented.

PROF. SWAIN GETS NEW HONOR.

Is Nominated Vice-President of American Society

Professor Swain was nominated as vice-president of the American Society of Civil Engineers at the recent meeting of the nominating committee of that body. This new addition to Prof. Swain's already long list of honors places him in the second highest position in the country in the civil engineering profession.

That this nomination is well merited would be evident at a glance at his previous record in his connection with the society. In 1901 he was appointed a director of the society and served in this capacity until 1904. He is the author of many valuable papers on engineering subjects, published in the Transactions of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

NOTICE.

CIVIL ENGINEERS.—This afternoon at 4.15 the Civil Engineering Society will meet in 11 Eng. B. to hear an illustrated talk on the Engineering Features of the Charles River Dam, by Mr. John L. Howard, the assistant engineer of the dam. All members of Courses I and XI should attend.
