graduates, alumni, and officers of instruction.

The one class who has recognized that to act as an equal, and oftentimes a man is very seldom brought to the mind without mental effort. The student should feel that the success is due to his own personal equipment and training, rather than to the attitude that the course in civil engineering has done away with lecture bouts; 1910, 8 bouts.

The reputation of the Institute at present is very high in engineering cir-
