THE TECH

Financial policy adopted by this year's Tech Show is to be commended. From the large profits of last year's show a percentage has been retained for a sinking fund to start the operations of the 1909 show.

In previous years all or nearly all of the profit from the show has been turned over to the athletic association. When the management staged its operations at the beginning of each year, a large part of the incoming money, on the personal note of the general business manager, was turned over to some other institution.

This money is needed at the first of the year is undoubtedly less true of the professional coach, the theatres, and patrons who have been so loyal to the show. As yet the competition has not been faced.

The Advancing Department of the Tech Show needs some men who will and can write newspaper stories about the Show. Of the eight men who came out for the three positions open, ad- vancing manager and two assistants, four have dropped out for slight reasons.

The lyric competition has not yet been formally decided but some of the best lyrics were handed in and given over to the music writers. A meeting of the latter will be held Thursday and a down cut out. They include: H. S. Win- son, 1909, W. G. Harrington, 1910, J. A. Hubbard 1909, H. Holy 1909, A. R. Thorsley 1909, F. Kellogg 1911, H. A. Hale, Jr. 1909, W. J. Orchard, 1910, H. W. Hilliard 1909, K. B. Harrington, J. C. Fuller, 1909.

A large proportion of these wills with to write show music, and chances. Un- pursuasively few wished to write topical songs, although two or three expressed their willingness to write anything. H. A. Hilliard, 1909, wrote "Dear Old M. L. T." for the show last year has written a Tech Song this year, too. H. A. Hilliard also wrote last year. Not much is known about the ability of the other men in this list.

The role poster contest is also progressing well. Ten or twelve posters have been handed in and they show a good deal of merit. As yet the competi- tion has not been decided.

There is a chance for more.

The final cut of a year ago had four of its members on the Show management. As yet the competition has not been faced.

The following statement appears in the columns of TheMaryvland Collegian. The Tech, of Boston, is an exceptionally fine paper. It is one of our best ex-

At the annual exhibition of the Forest Fish and Game Society of New York City a remarkable collection of photographs of birds and animals taken by Wilson Lynne, of the University of Michigan, received much favorable comment.
