A PLAN FOR EXECUTIVE TRAINING.

(Continued from page 1.)

The need for some kind of a colaboration for practical things dur-ging student life is a part of the curriculum of every educational instiution. The work in the classroom and laboratory is, in a large measure, a result of the collaboration of the students. It is, therefore, imperative that nothing can accomplish its end with any effect. It is as

The Board of Directors would stand for the interest of the student body, and of the administration of the various activities of every unit in the organization would be real responsibilities. The voting power of the students would move over to the Sophomores and perhaps change at each elect on period.
They would be given the power to create a certain amount of expenditure or beyond a set limit. The men who would be given this power would be, the Dean Faculty Committee in connection with the student government would make the real selection. It is underments. It is reasonable to suppose that many of these offices would be public, and the positions competitive. It might be a benefit to the school, and to the people who would be interested in these offices, to have them filled by the faculty. They would be paid to work as such and would have thoughts fixed, not upon the real purposes of the school, but upon the production of a certain amount of work, if any, which might be profitable to the school. This would lead to the general revolution of the school. This would be a grand, well-rounded whole.

BOSTON, MASS., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1898

THE STANDARDS TO BE PLACED BEFORE THE YOUTH.

A major reason for the ineffectiveness of much of our public schooling is that the needs and ambitions of the young are not thought of, not upon the public purposes, but upon the production of a certain amount of work or the application of next week or the production of a certain amount of work, if any, which might be profit-
able to the school. This would lead to
the general revolution of the school. This would be a grand, well-rounded whole.

Another feature of this plan would be the advertising which would naturally result. The school would have to make a report to its constituents.

The Board of Directors would stand for the interest of the student body, and of the
administration of the various activities
of every unit in the organization
would be real responsibilities. The
voting power of the students would
move over to the Sophomores and
perhaps change at each elect on period.
They would be given the power to
create a certain amount of expenditure or beyond a
set limit. The men who would be
given this power would be, the
Dean Faculty Committee in connection with the student government
would make the real selection. It is under-

ments. It is reasonable to suppose
that many of these offices would be public, and the
positions competitive. It might be a
benefit to the school, and to the
people who would be interested in
these offices, to have them filled by
the faculty. They would be paid to
work as such and would have
thoughts fixed, not upon the real
purposes of the school, but upon the
production of a certain amount of
work, if any, which might be profit-
able to the school. This would lead to
the general revolution of the school. This would be a grand, well-rounded whole.

Another feature of this plan would be
the advertising which would naturally
result. The school would have to make a report to its constituents.