Friday, April 10, will be Tech Day at the Boston Hippodrome, Mechanics Building. The profits of the day are to be devoted to a fund for the equip-pment of a part of the Copley Hall building as a Temporary Walker Memorial. All the reserved seats for both the afternoon and evening performances have been reserved by the Board of Editors of The Tech for technology members only, except as part of the general public. These seats will have no further claim on them and must be claimed before March 15, as all reserved seats not claimed by that date will be given up then and Tech men will have no further claim on them except as part of the general public. All of these seats are to be held for Tech men until March 15, when they will be sold to the pubpany, a large per cent will be given on all tickets sold by The Tech up to par values, at a regular price of $2 per seat, to be auctioned off. In order that the greatest profit may be realized, Bids for these boxes will be announced later in these columns. It is especially urged that tickets be sold and exchanged for reserved seats as early as possible. Attention is also drawn to the fact that this exchange must be made before March 15, as all reserved seats not taken by that date will be given up then and Tech men will have no further claim on them except as part of the general public.

A BALLET OF THE BUTTERFLIES.

The act that will be presented will be the best that money can buy and the sum of money each performance will be over $1,000.

Among the Bareback riders which Mr. Rogers has engaged is G. B. T. C. L. of New York, who is the greatest performer of their kind on earth and who has never done a performance which would be worth going to see. Mr. Rogers has also arranged for a new and sensational act from Europe, Powers' famous New York Hippodrome Stunt of the famous "Sailor's Hockey," who has never been seen in America before and will make their first appearance in Boston at the Hippodrome.

Over one hundred horses, ponies, and lion riders will be used in this production, which includes existing Hippodrome acts roused around the greatest interest that will be built in Grand Hall at enormous expense. At the close of the circus will be the greatest stunts and greatest "Ballet of the Butterflies," which will be worth seeing hundreds of miles to see, and will be grand and beautiful without comparison. It will be the largest and most successful circus ever put on the stage and will cost thousands of dollars to install, besides the cost of costumes, salaries, and the many hundreds of a ballet outfit.

In the basement of the building will be kept all of the animals, freak shows, the fire lily, living skeleton, etc., and all that goes to create an interest, and makes up a great circus; but Mr. Rogers does not call this just a circus but goes farther and will produce here a Hippodrome that will rival even the New York Hippodrome. Every performance is to be given under the auspices of a different organization, and many of the most prominent organizations in Boston have been fortunate in securing special days.
