AN EVER PRESENT QUESTION.

A matter open to continual discussion among students, their parents, the alumni, the administration, and the governing bodies of nearly every college or university in the country, is the balancing of college activities and the student's interests. The question is not often that this subject is brought up, for it is not one that any president of a college is likely to discuss, nor is it the subject of the college publications, nor even that of the alumni or friends of the college. It is not often that this subject is taken up by the college newspapers, or by the college alumni, or by the college in any way.

The question is, how much of the time of the students is spent in college activities? And how much of the time of the alumni and friends of the college is spent in college activities? The question is, how much of the time of the college is spent in college activities? And how much of the time of the college is spent in college activities?

The question is, how much of the time of the students is spent in college activities? And how much of the time of the alumni and friends of the college is spent in college activities? The question is, how much of the time of the college is spent in college activities? And how much of the time of the college is spent in college activities?

The question is, how much of the time of the students is spent in college activities? And how much of the time of the alumni and friends of the college is spent in college activities? The question is, how much of the time of the college is spent in college activities? And how much of the time of the college is spent in college activities?

The question is, how much of the time of the students is spent in college activities? And how much of the time of the alumni and friends of the college is spent in college activities? The question is, how much of the time of the college is spent in college activities? And how much of the time of the college is spent in college activities?

The question is, how much of the time of the students is spent in college activities? And how much of the time of the alumni and friends of the college is spent in college activities? The question is, how much of the time of the college is spent in college activities? And how much of the time of the college is spent in college activities?