DARTMOUTH MAKES BEST SHOW IN PRELIMINARIES.

QUALIFIES SEVENTEEN MEN.

Technology and Williams Come Next.

Dartmouth came fully up to the general expectation by qualifying the greatest number of men in the preliminaries of the New England Interscholastic meet at Technology Field yesterday. Seventeen men made good their right to contest in the finals this afternoon. Preliminary elimination contests were held in eleven events. Those that are reserved exclusively for this afternoon are the 100 yard dash and the one and two mile run.

Technology and Williams each qualified eleven men, and last, but not least, was Dartmouth, who had only four entries who made good. Maine and Vermont had two entries, while Harvard and Trinity were forced to content with one each.

All the eleven colleges of the association were represented and every team qualified one, or two or more. In the eleven events contested yesterday afternoon forty-nine athletes were maintained for competition in the finals.

All of the champions that won in the morning were run in the afternoon. Finishing in one heat, however, was the high jump and also in the pole vault. He was clear of the crowd and Anderson were third and fourth. Evans was close behind him and Steveins maintained it until he reached the tape. The bunch came into the home stretch. Evans was in the lead. As the tape was reached Steveins took the lead and maintained it with difficulty. The finish was a contest with the second place and jumped across the line in perfect form. The other place went to Dartmouth. Fatch, of Dartmouth, and Shipley of Dartmouth, were a considerable distance behind.

Glennor of Technology led during the greatest part of the first heat in the half-mile. At the end of the first quarter Darns of Dartmouth was close behind, followed by his team mate. Fatch, and Laddick of Tech. Almost 200 yards from the finish Carsn jumped in the lead and opened up a wide gap. Glennor fell back to fifth position but on the sprint for the tape he passed three men and flashed a close second to the winner. During its whole extent the race was a good competitive exhibition.

The man who ran in the heat in their order from the pole were: M. E. Hopkins, Williams; J. R. Campbell, Vermont; J. V. Young, Brown; H. Mackay, Technology; R. B. Baxter, Dartmouth; M. C. Shawtack, Amherst; R. L. Curns, Dartmouth; B. L. Gilmour, Technology. The time of the race, 2 minutes 2 seconds, was slow.

Gray, the Wesleyan star, won the second heat in the half mile. For the first quarter the runners took things easy. The order at the end of the lap was Lester, Gray, and Forster. While of Tech at that time was coming sixth.

On the second lap there was some real racing. Forster, the Maine star, light with the Wesleyan runner, Gray, for the lead. These two alternated in the leading position, and Gray won in the sprint for the tape. The time was slightly better than in the first heat. No order from the pole the starters in the heat were B. C. Cates, Williams; G. R. Shipley, Dartmouth; R. B. For- tner, Maine; J. B. Lester, Williams; B. Hoffman, Dartmouth; J. S. Simmons, Brown; P. D. White, Technology; R. L. Gray, Wesleyan.

Share, the star of the Harlem team ran in the first heat of the high hurdles. The contest was very little of a race for there was no one to either approach the champion's success over the hurdles. As he took flight after flight of his obstacles with the most perfect ease, he showed possibilities of what he was capable of doing in the future. At the finish he was 15 yards in advance of the second man. H. H. Halstead of Trinity, R. L. Loomis, (Continued on page 2.)
