The Copley Florist
N. Fishel
M and N Hanlon
Plaza Building
Floral Designing
for all Occasions
Tel. 21500 Back Bay
DISCOUNT TO TECH MEN

BARNEY & BERRY
214 Broad St., Springfield, Mass.

SKATES
No sport like skating. Look up your shoes and ready for the first ice.
Learn to do fancy moves. If interested in Hockey use our Safety Edge or Can-dine patterns. Best tempered Ice Skates in the world. Your dealer will supply your demand.

The Copley Florist
N. Fishel
M and N Hanlon
Plaza Building
Floral Designing
for all Occasions
Tel. 21500 Back Bay
DISCOUNT TO TECH MEN

BARNEY & BERRY
214 Broad St., Springfield, Mass.

SKATES
No sport like skating. Look up your
shoes and ready for the first ice.
Learn to do fancy moves. If interested
in Hockey use our Safety Edge or Can-
dine patterns. Best tempered Ice Skates in the world. Your dealer will
supply your demand.

THE TECHNOLOGY'S SYSTEM
(Continued from page 1) young man’s mind and habits of thought are still in the plasmatic, formative state, and that the acquirement of culture is essentially a gradual process which can be imparted, however, more and more successfully the older the student has become. Correspondingly, it is, I believe, the desire of our Faculty to introduce general studies more and more into the higher rather than the lower years of our course.

2. The Institute lays, moreover, especial emphasis on work in the empirical sciences. For training in scientific method and acquirement of the scientific spirit is considered to be not only an essential to professional success, but also an important element in culture and in life.

3. It has developed in an usual degree of personal contact between instructor and students, through the fact that most of its instruction is in small sections of students or to individuals in the laboratories or in the conferences rec-tently introduced in the second year subjects.

It is difficult to give from those many colleges in that electives are invented to a much less extent, in the belief that better results are obtained by prescribing, after the student has setected the profession for which he in-ishes to prepare himself, the principal courses which he is to pursue is given, hence, the choice between the various optional studies relating to different branches of life and profession and between a variety of elective.

As the classical studies, we do consider it well to give suddenly unlimited freedom in the choice of their studies to boys who have previously been confined to a definite curriculum in the secondary schools, which, by the way, prescribed in large measure through their entrance requirements by the colleges themselves; for we believe that such freedom often results in paradoxical regularity rather than in soundness of training and narrowness rather than breadth. Freedom of choice should ra-er be gradually increased, becoming greater in the higher years of the student’s career.

5. There have been developed at the Institute sounds conditions of student life and a more evenly proportioned div-sion of time and interest between the social and athletic activities of students and their studies than prevails at many colleges. While the Faculty has welcomed the great development student life which has taken place in the past few years, it demands from the regular students a standard of scholarship which is incessant, with an excessive devotion to such pursuits and with unlimited freedom in the choice of

their studies to boys who have previously been
confined to a definite curriculum in
the secondary schools, which, by the
way, prescribed in large measure through
their entrance requirements by
the colleges themselves; for we believe
that such freedom often results in
paradoxical regularity rather than in sound-
ness of training and narrowness rather than
breadth. Freedom of choice should ra-
er be gradually increased, becoming
greater in the higher years of the stu-
dent’s career.

5. There have been developed at the
Institute sounds conditions of student
life and a more evenly proportioned div-
sion of time and interest between
the social and athletic activities of students and their studies than prevails at
many colleges. While the Faculty has
welcomed the great development
student life which has taken place in the
past few years, it demands from the regular students a standard of scholarship
which is incessant, with an excessive

devotion to such pursuits and with un-
limited freedom in the choice of
their studies to boys who have previously been
confined to a definite curriculum in
the secondary schools, which, by the
way, prescribed in large measure through
their entrance requirements by
the colleges themselves; for we believe
that such freedom often results in
paradoxical regularity rather than in sound-
ness of training and narrowness rather than
breadth. Freedom of choice should ra-
er be gradually increased, becoming
greater in the higher years of the stu-
dent’s career.

5. There have been developed at the
Institute sounds conditions of student
life and a more evenly proportioned div-
sion of time and interest between
the social and athletic activities of students and their studies than prevails at
many colleges. While the Faculty has
welcomed the great development
student life which has taken place in the
past few years, it demands from the regular students a standard of scholarship
which is incessant, with an excessive

devotion to such pursuits and with un-
limited freedom in the choice of
their studies to boys who have previously been
confined to a definite curriculum in
the secondary schools, which, by the
way, prescribed in large measure through
their entrance requirements by
the colleges themselves; for we believe
that such freedom often results in
paradoxical regularity rather than in sound-
ness of training and narrowness rather than
breadth. Freedom of choice should ra-
er be gradually increased, becoming
greater in the higher years of the stu-
dent’s career.

5. There have been developed at the
Institute sounds conditions of student
life and a more evenly proportioned div-
sion of time and interest between
the social and athletic activities of students and their studies than prevails at
many colleges. While the Faculty has
welcomed the great development
student life which has taken place in the
past few years, it demands from the regular students a standard of scholarship
which is incessant, with an excessive

devotion to such pursuits and with un-
limited freedom in the choice of
their studies to boys who have previously been
confined to a definite curriculum in
the secondary schools, which, by the
way, prescribed in large measure through
their entrance requirements by
the colleges themselves; for we believe
that such freedom often results in
paradoxical regularity rather than in sound-
ness of training and narrowness rather than
breadth. Freedom of choice should ra-
er be gradually increased, becoming
greater in the higher years of the stu-
dent’s career.

5. There have been developed at the
Institute sounds conditions of student
life and a more evenly proportioned div-
sion of time and interest between
the social and athletic activities of students and their studies than prevails at
many colleges. While the Faculty has
welcomed the great development
student life which has taken place in the
past few years, it demands from the regular students a standard of scholarship
which is incessant, with an excessive

devotion to such pursuits and with un-
limited freedom in the choice of
their studies to boys who have previously been
confined to a definite curriculum in
the secondary schools, which, by the
way, prescribed in large measure through
their entrance requirements by
the colleges themselves; for we believe
that such freedom often results in
paradoxical regularity rather than in sound-
ness of training and narrowness rather than
breadth. Freedom of choice should ra-
er be gradually increased, becoming
greater in the higher years of the stu-
dent’s career.

5. There have been developed at the
Institute sounds conditions of student
life and a more evenly proportioned div-
sion of time and interest between
the social and athletic activities of students and their studies than prevails at
many colleges. While the Faculty has
welcomed the great development
student life which has taken place in the
past few years, it demands from the regular students a standard of scholarship
which is incessant, with an excessive

devotion to such pursuits and with un-
limited freedom in the choice of
their studies to boys who have previously been
confined to a definite curriculum in
the secondary schools, which, by the
way, prescribed in large measure through
their entrance requirements by
the colleges themselves; for we believe
that such freedom often results in
paradoxical regularity rather than in sound-
ness of training and narrowness rather than
breadth. Freedom of choice should ra-
er be gradually increased, becoming
greater in the higher years of the stu-
dent’s career.

5. There have been developed at the
Institute sounds conditions of student
life and a more evenly proportioned div-
sion of time and interest between
the social and athletic activities of students and their studies than prevails at
many colleges. While the Faculty has
welcomed the great development
student life which has taken place in the
past few years, it demands from the regular students a standard of scholarship
which is incessant, with an excessive

devotion to such pursuits and with un-
limited freedom in the choice of
their studies to boys who have previously been
confined to a definite curriculum in
the secondary schools, which, by the
way, prescribed in large measure through
their entrance requirements by
the colleges themselves; for we believe
that such freedom often results in
paradoxical regularity rather than in sound-
ness of training and narrowness rather than
breadth. Freedom of choice should ra-
er be gradually increased, becoming
greater in the higher years of the student’s career.