Less than fifty members were present at the Monday noon meeting in Huntington Hall. Various matters relating to class day were discussed, and the constitution of the Institute Committee, already adopted by the three lower classes, was ratified as it does not conflict with the class constitution.

Arrangements were made for the election of the class day officials. President J. H. Critcher was authorized to appoint a committee of five to serve as election officers. It was voted that the entire class be placed on the ballot. The twenty-five lines receiving the highest number of votes will then constitute the class day committee. The three highest will be marshals and the highest of all as chief marshal.

The recent election of the class was talked over informally. It was decided that the gift of whatever sort should be for the Union, and that the class day committee be authorized to choose it.

Society of Arts

Dr. Robert S. Woodward, President of the Carnegie Institute, of Washington, D. C., will describe the foundation of the institution by Andrew Carnegie, at the 60th meeting of the Society of Arts, to be held at 8 P. M., in Huntington Hall, on Thursday, March 25th.

HOCKEY SEASON VERY SUCCESSFUL

Team Losses but Three Games, Outscoring Opponents

To ELECT CAPTAIN

Prospects for a champion hockey team for next year are extremely bright, as all of the men lost two who made this year's successful team will be back at the Institute. The schedule has not yet been set, but it is necessary to wait until the schedule of the intercollegiate hockey League has been announced before any games can be played by the members of that league. However, with the fine record of the team last two seasons, the prospects for next season should not have trouble in arranging a good schedule for next season.

The team that just closed was one of the most successful in the history of the Institute, the team having gone through the season with a record of four games won, zero losses.

C. E. SOCIETY

Meeting to Speak on Contract Versus Day Labor

At the meeting of the Civil Engineering Society at 4:30 this afternoon in 11 Eng., C. E. C. E., the value of the firm of Meckiff and Eddy, consulting engineers, was discussed, as well as the relative economy of contract work as compared with day labor work in the light of the Boston Finance Commission. Mr. Meckiff is an experienced engineer, having been in 1892, and has great knowledge of Boston's municipal affairs, together with the wide experience which he has had as a consulting engineer, should make his talk of the greatest value and interest to all.
