The Tech takes pleasure in announcing the appointment of Hamilton Merrill 1912, to the business staff.

Congratulations are certainly in order for the relay team and Coach Kanaly. Although the time was not fast, the fact that a winning team was turned out on such short notice shows that some hard work has been done in the last two weeks.

After the slow time made in the trials, the victory is a pleasant surprise. Much credit is due to the members of the team who have been training hard for two months, as well as to those, who have relied on their natural speed and only two weeks work, or less.

With the passing of Junior Week comes the realization of the fact that only one short month remains before the end of the year, with final exams and other tribulations standing in line to make the poor student pay for the fun he may get later. Junior Week has been a glorious occasion—or series of occasions—but it certainly does knock the desire to work out of a man, and in many cases does not furnish much of the rest from labor which optimists ascribe to it. One month is a short time, and there is much to do. These facts may be stated until repetition becomes wearisome, but they deserve attention, and the other well-known phrase, "I told you so," seldom sounds pleasant to the person addressed.

Notice has been sent to all present and prospective alumni of the reunion in June. The information in the circular is definite and clear, and gives promise of much pleasure, and not a little benefit. Arrangements have been made for two big excursions, two dinners and smokers, an automobile ride for the people from out of town, and a general succession of events from start to finish which leaves little time unoccupied.

Reunions like this are of great value to the alumni and the Institute. They bind the men together, and remind them afresh of the debt they owe their Alma Mater for her share in their success and happiness in life. They keep the men alive to Technology's progress and rekindle old friendships. The success of the June gathering should be assured by the worthiness of its objects.

BIOLOGICAL SOCIETY

On Thursday, April 29, at the Technology Club, 83 Newbury Street, the final meeting of the Biological Society will be held. As this is the final meeting, all members should make a special effort to be present. The meeting will commence promptly at 6.30, and after a short business session the election of officers for next term will be held. A dinner will be served at 60 cents a plate. The speaker is Dr. Frederick Adams Wood, and he will talk on the subject of "Biometrical Methods and the Interpretation of History." It is hoped to make this dinner the most successful of the year. Talk it up to those who ought to be members. Remember that the noise committee will be there strong and in all their glory. All who have not paid their initiation fees, signed the constitution, or procured shingles, are requested to do so at this meeting.

INSTITUTE CALENDAR

In order to correct what has become a great nuisance to everybody during the past year, the Institute Committee has appointed a committee which shall maintain a calendar. This calendar is to show in advance all dates set for meetings, dinners, meets, rehearsals, etc., of all the different student activities. This calendar is to be kept up-to-date, and will be displayed in a prominent place in the Union, so that it will be of easy access to everyone. This scheme has many obvious advantages for all Institute organizations. It will help bind the various organizations more closely together, and will make it possible to arrange meetings with far less chance of serious conflict than heretofore. It will therefore guarantee better attendance, and, consequently, promote interest and enthusiasm.

However, in order to carry out this plan successfully, the full co-operation of every student activity is essential. The calendar will be of value only to the extent of its completeness, and it is, therefore, necessary that every organization shall notify this committee immediately upon the arrangement of all meetings.

ANNUAL SPRING

but can not compete with other colleges this year.

W. D. Allen will have the pole vault all to himself and his classmate, Bill Salisbury, should take a place in this event. Greenleaf 1912, and Gott will probably fill out the rest of this part of the program. The high jump will be a pretty dual between P. D. Dalrymple 1912, and E. Stuart 1910, with R. H. Allen 1909, and L. S. Hooper 1912, close behind. W. J. Pead 1910, is doing good work in the broad jump and will give Greenleaf, Becker and Gott a good rub for first. With K. D. Fernstrom 1910, out of the hurdles it looks like a toss up among H. S. Mason 1910, W. J. Pead 1910, G. B. Cummings 1910, and F. F. Bell 1910. The juniors ought to make a big haul of points from these events.

The prizes will be: For first place, silver medal; for second place, bronze medal; for third place, an appropriate badge. No entrance fee except the price of admission will be charged. Each man's points will count for the class with which he has taken the most studies during the entire year, and the class which has the greatest total of points for the two scratch meets gets the championship for the year regardless of who wins the meet on Saturday.
