Hornell for 1912:
1912 is right on hand!

Talk of Field Day already.

The Union, the students' social center, was constructed through the generosity of the Alumni and friends of the Institute, and has been the scene of numerous events to all students, by applying opportunities for intercourse in the smoking room, dining room, and game rooms, it encourages sociability and strengthens the unity of the students.

Because of the size and money which has not been spared on this, the students' club, it would be an excellent place now to emu early from the "Union Hall."

Attend the Friday night entertainments, and spend your free time in the formation of friendship with the fellows gathered in the Union Hall.

It is an excellent habit, this one of sociability, and for now especially, the Union is a great aid in its development.

At this time of the year the sophomores and freshmen turn to touch football and tug-of-war, and the juniors and seniors turn to thoughts of "joy rides" on "harry wagons," out to Tech Field.

Field Day has been in and all probability will remain the greatest day of the year for the upper classes. It develops the interest in athletics among the upper classes, and it also necessary that the upper classes should take some part in sports, and for this reason the Tech believes that all men who have ability should start in now and develop their sports which will naturally help the Institute on the track and field, and will also give the men themselves great physical benefit.

UNDERGRADUATES

PUBLISH NEW BOOK

The new book "Concerning the Massachusetts Institute of Technology," has appeared and will soon be distributed. This book, gotten up at the instigation of the Institute Committee by a committee of undergraduates and alumni of which Mr. W. T. Hitchcock was chairman, takes up the social side of Institute life. It is intended to supplement the catalogue. The first part of each book deals with choice of course and each course and the qualifications necessary to succeed in it, are briefly described. Then there follow articles on the Union, the Tech, the other activities, the different branches of athletics, fraternities, societies and clubs, class organizations, with the rules for the year of 1912 as a model, and instructions in registration. Throughout the book has been the endeavor of the committee to have the articles written by the men who were best qualified to work, them because of their knowledge of the subjects.

An edition of 5,000 was printed, a limited number of which are brother bound for distribution to libraries. Every undergraduate of the Institute is entitled to one or two copies and extra copies may be obtained for one dollar by mailing application to Box 36, Back Bay Post Office. The free copies will probably be distributed next week from the Union. As the idea in distributing this book is to place it in hands who are thinking of coming to the Institute to see it, it is planned to send a leather bound copy to the libraries of all preparatory schools which are likely to send men here. The cloth bound copies are to be sent to men themselves who are interested in undergraduate affairs at the Institute. In order to get the names of the school of and men of, it is required that the undergraduate send in such names and addresses, together with their own names and addresses to Box 36, Back Bay Post Office and copies will be mailed immediately.

SHOW MANAGEMENT

In the play itself there is room for a variety of talent. Acting, singing, dancing, and any other "scunts," will find a place here. A man should not think it necessary to be a finished actor by any means to come out; all he needs is a passable voice, or a little talent at singing or dancing.

The play, which out of eleven Shows have been written by students, and already one or two plays for this year have been worked up by undergraduates. It is here that theundergraduate will find his chance. If a man cannot write a whole play, but thinks he has some good actor, he should communicate with Mr. T. A. Cole, the actor, as soon as possible, by no means later than October 15, as only complete books will be considered when the-final play is announced on November 1.

Late in the year the very popular competition will be called, and the best will be picked. Subject will be indicated in the catalogue. The competition for drawings for a poster will be held. All these are open to any undergraduate.

All are open to any undergraduate.
