The delicious blend of Turkish tobacco makes you glad to Cigarette. The mild fragrance and flavor just fill the bill.

Football game. Tie score. Goal kicked from the field.

The Walker Club was founded with the intention of teaching the use of the stereopticon to illustrate the lecture. It will be worth the while of all men to come next Friday, for the question is one of the most prominent before the scientific world today. Some Tech men have already interested themselves in this line, and they hope this lecture will come a more wide spread interest. A week from Friday Mr. Louis Brandeis will be the speaker. He addressed the students last year, and those who heard him considered him one of the most interesting speakers of the season. His subject on that date will be "Working Men's Life Insurance." Mr. Brandeis is prominent in the 1915 movement. and his remarks will be well worth bearing.

With the three most valuable world trophies for aeronautical skill in the possession of Americans, the prospects of aviation competitions during the next twelve months are of the brightest. The first step in the direction was taken Thursday, upon the arrival of Orville Wright from Europe, when it was semi-officially announced that a series of flights for the Michelin cup, won by Wilbur Wright at Le Mans, France, Dec. 31, 1908, would be held during the last week of this year, probably at the Belmont Park race track.

Andrew Carnegie has donated $100,000 to McGill University, following a promise that if $500,000 be raised from Lord Stratheona.
