According to all indications the Tech Show dinner will again break the record for the largest dinner of the year at the Union. Manager Wilson reports an unusually large number of tickets by the holders in the business department, and the list of speakers also would warrant a large attendance.

Dudley Coghill, general manager, will be the toastsmaster for the evening, and will keep the company jumping smoothly.

The management has been fortunate enough to get President McAdoo to open the show, if his return is in time from a trip he is taking. If not, Mr. McAdoo will be the show chairman, being his first appearance here since he has been to a show dinner, but his presence is expected to make the occasion one of the most outstanding for the management on last year's performer. The list of speakers, we believe, will assure an interesting, stimulating and educational activity, to be at the first dinner this year.

Prof. Dr. F. A. Emmons, who is temporarily in charge of Boston Tech Show, 1910, will be at the Institute, yet the subject is really a large one atendanee.

Nearly every engineering student entering the show will be in sympathy with the various student activities. It is not very often that the men are given the opportunity to hear one of the former general managers, give some experience of his day in the show, but this year Mr. Kibbey, general manager, Tech Show, 1910, will be in time for the big celebration which will be held.

The dinner is to begin promptly at 6:00 P.M. with the show program, and the work of the show and the work of the east and chairs.

The dinner is to begin promptly at 6:00 P.M., as to enable all men to be in time for the big celebration which is sure to occur after the Yale-Harvard game.

Professor James 1904 will open the show, and his arguments home conclusively to his listeners for its own productions, and in considering the contingencies of life has become an important one. If taken up systematically, the unforeseen difficulties of life are easier to understand and to avoid than the terrible conditions of pauperism which have forced the master into the streets.

The American laborer is not more or less than a living human being, but in America, for the most part, thought of as a living human being, not as a human being. The difference is, however, at most, not a fit foundation, so it is to assume too much from the inexperienced writer. Individuals claim special rights under the constitution, but the works prescribed as required to accomplish its purpose, be in a spirit of liberality and a composition is, after all, symipathetic, and due credit would often not be given. Correction can be made.

Three articles have recently been published on English, and they are in sympathy with the various student activities. It is not very often that the men are given the opportunity to hear one of the former general managers, give some experience of his day in the show, but this year Mr. Kibbey, general manager, Tech Show, 1910, will be in time for the big celebration which will be held.

The dinner is to begin promptly at 6:00 P.M. with the show program, and the work of the show and the work of the east and chairs.

The dinner is to begin promptly at 6:00 P.M., as to enable all men to be in time for the big celebration which is sure to occur after the Yale-Harvard game.

Professor James 1904 will open the show, and his arguments home conclusively to his listeners for its own productions, and in considering the contingencies of life has become an important one. If taken up systematically, the unforeseen difficulties of life are easier to understand and to avoid than the terrible conditions of pauperism which have forced the master into the streets.

The American laborer is not more or less than a living human being, but in America, for the most part, thought of as a living human being, not as a human being. The difference is, however, at most, not a fit foundation, so it is to assume too much from the inexperienced writer. Individuals claim special rights under the constitution, but the works prescribed as required to accomplish its purpose, be in a spirit of liberality and a composition is, after all, symipathetic, and due credit would often not be given. Correction can be made.

Three articles have recently been published on English, and they are in sympathy with the various student activities. It is not very often that the men are given the opportunity to hear one of the former general managers, give some experience of his day in the show, but this year Mr. Kibbey, general manager, Tech Show, 1910, will be in time for the big celebration which will be held.

The dinner is to begin promptly at 6:00 P.M. with the show program, and the work of the show and the work of the east and chairs.

The dinner is to begin promptly at 6:00 P.M., as to enable all men to be in time for the big celebration which is sure to occur after the Yale-Harvard game.

Professor James 1904 will open the show, and his arguments home conclusively to his listeners for its own productions, and in considering the contingencies of life has become an important one. If taken up systematically, the unforeseen difficulties of life are easier to understand and to avoid than the terrible conditions of pauperism which have forced the master into the streets.

The American laborer is not more or less than a living human being, but in America, for the most part, thought of as a living human being, not as a human being. The difference is, however, at most, not a fit foundation, so it is to assume too much from the inexperienced writer. Individuals claim special rights under the constitution, but the works prescribed as required to accomplish its purpose, be in a spirit of liberality and a composition is, after all, symipathetic, and due credit would often not be given. Correction can be made.

Three articles have recently been published on English, and they are in sympathy with the various student activities. It is not very often that the men are given the opportunity to hear one of the former general managers, give some experience of his day in the show, but this year Mr. Kibbey, general manager, Tech Show, 1910, will be in time for the big celebration which will be held.