INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

Some talk has been started at Princeton of having Roper return as head coach. This season he has been in charge of the Missouri eleven.

Perhaps the youngest college graduate in the United States is Norbert Weiner, a lad of fourteen, who has an A. B. from Tufts College.

Coach Stagg of Chicago would penalize crawling with the ball, claiming that this practice tempts opponents to pile on.

Pennsylvania underclassmen will hold their annual Bowl Fight on Wednesday, December 1, instead of this afternoon, as was at first announced. The date has been changed so that the contest would in no way interfere with the Thanksgiving holidays.

GEOLOGICAL TRIPS

The field trips of the course in structural geology concluded with the trip to Newtonville last Friday, Nov. 26. This year the excursions have differed very little from those of the past few years, but those students who have taken the trips have heartily enjoyed them. The trips have all been to local geological deposits.

The following excursions constitute the course in field geology, especially designed to illustrate certain features of structural and stratigraphic geology.

1. Friday, Oct. 22—Newton Centre. Structure of Sedimentary Rocks.
2. Friday, Oct. 29—Brighton. Structure of Sedimentary Rocks. Structure of Igneous Rocks.
3. Quincy. Structure of Igneous Rocks.
4. Friday, Nov. 19—Marblehead. Structure of Igneous Rocks.
5. Friday, Nov. 26—Newtonville. Structure of Sorlicial Deposits.

The next trip was postponed on account of Field Day, and was taken the following Friday, Nov. 12.
