

WINTER SPORTS

which offer opportunities to freshmen and sophomores to get into basket ball work.

Gym Team

The Gym Team has been practicing for some time, but only a few men have been out. Capt. Allen, H. S. Gott and H. O. Maxwell of last year's team are back.

There will be meets with Amherst, Columbia and Harvard if the team is sufficiently developed. There will also be meets with local Y. M. C. A. teams. During the winter exhibitions will be given at the gymnasium. The first of these will come on Tuesday evening, Dec. 21.

Hand Ball

There has been a growing interest in this sport, and it is certainly deserving of attention. It seems at first sight quite simple, but there are many points to be learned about the game. It is a game that brings every muscle of the body into play and is therefore beneficial. Mr. J. J. McGrath the assistant gym instructor plays the game a great deal and every day there are a dozen or more fellows on the court.

There is a good chance to run a tournament and it would be interesting to watch the matches as there are many good players.

SECOND CONCERT

The second big out-of-town concert to be given by the musical club will be held out in Wellesley next Friday evening. A very fine program has been arranged so the whole affair should prove immensely popular. The building in which the concert will be held, is the Town Hall. This is amply large enough to seat as large a crowd as may come.

This is the first concert which has ever been held in Wellesley by the club and it is highly desirable in that town that the concert be an annual affair. This will be possible, since there is so much in favor of such a concert.

The tickets are now on sale, and are going fast in the Wellesley dormitories in Wellesley. Here at the Institute, they may be obtained from Martin or Warner of the musical club.

COMMUNICATION

No doubt the freshman class think that they are doing the best thing possible in holding their first dinner away from the Union, but I would like to know if they think that they are doing the best thing for the Institute. It must be remembered that a student here at Tech is an Institute man before he is a member of any particular class.

In going away from the Union, the 1913 class is showing very poor Tech spirit. They are certainly in a class by themselves and can not be spoken of as true Institute men. A loyal Tech man would stick by M. I. T. and all its interests no matter what conditions of affairs prevailed. Why didn't the committee make more inquiries concerning the Union menus and why didn't they consult their advisors, the junior class. I feel sure that they would find that the upper classmen would heartily disapprove the course which has been pursued.—A loyal Tech man.
