THIRD T. G. A. DINNER

At the third dinner of the Technology Christian Association, Mr. Frank Chase gave an interesting talk on the extent of vio in New England. He gave a few examples of the good works done by the Watch and Ward Society since its organization thirty years ago. Mr. Chase said, "The society is not a freak organization, with me as the chief freak, as many people think, but a good legitimate organization for the betterment of public morals."

There will be no dinner next Wednesday evening. The next dinner will be January 2.

COURSE II ISSUE

Mechanical Engineering and its several branches will be taken up in the second special issue of The Tech, next Saturday. The subject will be treated in about the same manner as Civil Engineering was taken up last week. Special articles by professors in the Course II department, descriptions of the courses of study, pictures of some of the laboratories, and the scope of mechanical engineering, are a few of the subjects.

To students and prospective students of any course at the Institute, one of the most interesting points is to know what men who have graduated from the courses are now doing. In this special issue will be several letters from old graduates, and short sketches of members of the department, many of whom are graduates of this Institute.

Current news will be run in the Saturday issue as usual.

CURRENT EVENTS

That the naval militia should be available for service on the sea as the regular militia is on land, is the opinion of Messrs. Francis W. Halsey who has promoted the public's resignations from the presidency. The climax was reached when the Government attempted to put through Congress a bill conveying to the public his resignation from the presidency. The motion was in danger of being lost, the Government precipitately adjourned the session. Corda was followed to his hotel by a mob amid cheers of "Long live Corda, Estrada, the revolution, and the United States." Long live liberty, down with oppression! "And the handwriting is on the wall." A similar hostile demonstration at Seom is reported.

The revolution in Nicaragua is on the wall. A similar hostile demonstration on the part of the presidential police. The aim of the military and the regular militia is on land, is the opinion of Asst. Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Winthrop. He appeared before the House Committee on naval affairs yesterday and asked for an increase of $25,000, in the estimate for the naval militia appropriation.

The Nicaraguan capital is in a state of ferment, to check which no attempt has been made by the police. The streets are scene of such anti-Zelaya demonstrations on the part of the mobs that President Zelaya has promulgated the public's resignation from the presidency.
