Mr. King Tells T. C. A. Of Work Of The Sailors' Navy

The small number of men who attended the Tech Christian Association Dinner last night heard one of the best and most interesting talks that have been given this season. For nearly an hour Mr. Stanton H. King held his audience with his powerful description of the conditions among the sailors and the work of the Sailors' Haven, of which he is superintendent. Mr. King drew forth many bursts of applause both for the interesting and often amusing stories he told of his work and for his deep regard for the welfare of the men who sail the deep.

"Treat the sailor as a fellow-man. Do not put on a condescending air toward him, or regard him as a depraved creature who needs salvation," said Mr. King, who believes very strongly that most of the mission and rescue work done for sailors is carried out along lines which lie is superintendent. Mr. King is very practical in his ideas, and says that to the sailor than a mission. Mr. King is very deep regard for the welfare of the hero, one who helps to make the world a better place for all mankind. For nearly an hour Mr. King drew forth many bursts of applause, which he said were continually toppling off the edge of the dining room.

The film was used as an example of the solid projecting spire type. Just previous to his visit there was a severe eruption and a new spire had just formed. On his visit Mr. Jaggar was fortunate in witnessing a rare sight on this mountain. Prof. Jaggar was fortunate in witnessing the eruption and a new spire had just formed. This rock dome was over 100 feet high and 20 feet wide. The eruption of lava is seen in Asama, "The Vesuvius of Japan." Quite frequent explosions were blowing the top of spires, but another "cork" soon forms. On his visit Mr. Jaggar was fortunate in witnessing the eruption and a new spire had just formed.

THE TECH, BOSTON, MASS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 13, 1910.

THE FINEST IN EXISTENCE.

FOOTBALL

The fine Turkish Tobacco skillfully blended, aged and mellowed for two years. In a neat but inexpensive foil package, that means ten extra cigarettes a you.

T. C. A. Of

The American Tobacco Co.