UNION ENTERTAINMENT SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Mr. Kendall Amuses Fifty With Impersonations and Songs

Last night at the Union, fifty-one en joys of the most entertaining even tings of the year. Mr. Fred R. Kendall gave a complete program of songs, impersonations, stories and jokes, every one of which was greatly appreciated and heartily applauded. The impersonations were perhaps the best, although Mr. Kendall's facial contortions were wonderful. He spoke in almost every dialect and accent almost absurd to the hearer, female as well as male. Instead of his own voice he sang songs in a bawdy voice and very often with a bellows to help his voice.

He started the program with a song entitled "Go to Sleep," rendered with the help of Mr. John Martin at the organ. Then came what Mr. Kendall called "a little philosophical poem," entitled "The bulb of a flower," in which he impersonated an op tioned farm-hand speaking in his characteristic drawl. Marriage received its share of laughs next when, according to Mr. Kendall, a young farmer, who was fairly seriously said to be a heaven because he had been a strong proponent of woman's rights. A man who had been twice married was refused on the ground that "there must be no fools in Paradise." Following some other good comedy came a imitation of an old farmer at the bottom of the stairs calling to his family to get up. This was followed by some imitating hair and putting on a pair of "specs" Mr. Kendall transformed himself into the sleepy-looking farmer and made you forget completely that he was dressed in evening clothes.

After singing a negro ballad which was very impressive, he told a number of funny stories. These were followed by the best one of the evening, the tale of a baseball pitcher and a negro. Mr. Kendall said the negro saved the day and won the pennant for "Rice" and was then punished and broken in his ashes. Mr. Kendall's manner of telling this story and his impersonations of the negro and the old man were best described by the speaker himself, who, in his own words, said: "The negroes are the greatest audience the performer can have." He then proceeded to sing "Love is the Light of the World," for which he received hearty applause.

The climax of the evening came with the performance of "The Joke of the Debate." The debate was between two village sages, one of whom was the greatest man, "Napoleon Bonaparte" or Daniel Webster. One of the debaters thundered very badly and his attacks were not met with the same success. The debate was never settled, however, because in the ensuing speech the speaker's spasms it was announced that there was a dogfight on the common and the debate ceased to be serious.

Mr. Kendall's impersonations were well brought forth in this final number and he was heartily applauded.

At the close of the entertainment, Gentleman Jones, chairman of the committee, announced that the March 18th had been settled on as "Hook Night." He stated that the promotion committee, announced that Gorton James 1910, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced that Gorton James 1910, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced that the best evening of the year. Mr. Fred E. Kendall will be in charge of the promotion committee.

SOS COUND TO COMPETE AT LIGHT-GUARD MEET

Affair To Be Held At Medford Tonight—Relay Race Against Tufts

To make a success the stunts of the M. I. T. AeroClub must be of small models and pictures.

Technology will send a squad of men to the Lawrence Light-Guard meet at Medford tonight. Entries have been made in the 35-yard dash, the 440-yard run, the 1000-yard run, the one-mile run, the 35-yard hurdles and the high jump. The two-mile relay team will run against Tufts. This meet is second only to the B. A. A. meet for athletes in New England. Besides Technology and Tufts, Harvard, Brown, Holy Cross and the Boston College have also entered.

The edge with Tufts will be of greatest interest to the Institute. Last year at this same meet Tech won from Tufts and against Harvard. The Technology team is now even as good, if not better. According to reports from Tufts their best relay has been pushed up to the front. This year's Tufts relay has been their best ever. Their performances have been the closest contest expected. Tech will run at 4:00, 6:00, 8:00 and 10:00.
