The following is a brief account of the honorary engineering society known as Tau Beta Pi, telling what it is, the reasons for its existence, and the field that it covers.

The reason for the existence of such a society can be set forth very briefly as follows: The university course in engineering usually works under a very high pressure. The work is very continuous and carried over only four years of time, and as time goes on, the amount of work that is necessary for a student to take increases until it has become a necessity for him to get as much as is necessary to teach him to do his best. The tendency of all this is to make the technical students narrow and of one idea. They will spend most of their time in study and very little time in anything else; very little time at all in work, in inspecting their work, in learning any of those things which go to make a social life in general.

In order to have some means of distinguishing the best students in a class, further, some common meeting ground between faculty and students can be supplied. It was one of the prime reasons for the establishment of the society. It is to be an undergraduate organization, but there are varieties of opinions, and all the institutions in which there are chapter houses have been very successful in the doings of Tau Beta Pi and are present at the meetings with the students on common ground.

It might almost be said to a considerable extent that the student is the poor one, and there is nothing about it which is any way valid that the diplomas of the good student from that of the poor one.

It is impossible to have some means of distinguishing the best students in a class. A good student gets a diploma, but the poor one, and there is nothing about it which is any way valid that the diplomas of the good student from that of the poor one.

Technique is in considerable of a quandary in regard to the number of books which they shall order printed. Up to the date the number signed for has exceeded expectations considering that there still is over a month before the books is issued. The original intention of the Board was to have an edition of 1000 books printed. Although present institutions would seem to show that at least 1600 books could be used, the board have decided not to risk their personal funds as has been done in the past years, by ordering more books printed than are absolutely sure can be used.

Under the advice of Dr. Litchfield of the Technology Review, and of Mr. M. B. Scharff, business manager of Techne- The object of this organization shall be to unite all Christian men of the Institute into one vigorous body, with the establishment of the society. Membership in this organization shall be open to all members of the Institute, faculty or students, or members of the Adminis- strative Body of T. B. A., who having properly signed their desire for member- ship have been elected by a two-thirds vote of the members present at the meeting, and who shall fulfill the requirements of membership; to wit:

- Shall supreme body shall require approval and support of the objects of the society in a narrow and restricted sense. Further, some common meeting ground between faculty and students on common ground.

On Wednesday evening after the usual meeting of the students in a class. Further, some common meeting ground between faculty and students is desirable. In fact, this gets exactly the same diploma. A good social life in general.

The object of this organization shall be to unite all Christian men of the Institute into one vigorous body, with the establishment of the society.

Membership in this organization shall be open to all men, either present or former students of the faculty, inactive or instructors or members of the Admi- nis-

- The object of this organization shall be to unite all Christian men of the Institute into one vigorous body, with the establishment of the society. Membership in this organization shall be open to all members of the Institute, faculty or students, or members of the Adminis- strative Body of T. B. A., who having properly signed their desire for member- ship have been elected by a two-thirds vote of the members present at the meeting, and who shall fulfill the requirements of membership; to wit:

- Shall require approval and support of the objects of the society.

On Saturday the Course VI issue will be given ballots due at the Cage before the dinner. The objective is to make the students commonly interested.

- The objective is to make the students commonly interested.

The object of this organization shall be to unite all Christian men of the Institute into one vigorous body, with the establishment of the society.

Membership in this organization shall be open to all members of the Institute, faculty or students, or members of the Adminis- strative Body of T. B. A., who having properly signed their desire for member- ship have been elected by a two-thirds vote of the members present at the meeting, and who shall fulfill the requirements of membership; to wit:

- Shall require approval and support of the objects of the society.

On Saturday the Course VI issue will be given ballots due at the Cage before the dinner.