Chances About Even For Another Victory At Penn Relay Carnival

Yesterday afternoon before an appreciable crowd the annual Intero-continental drill under the auspices of the M. I. T. Athletic association was held in South Armory. New Bedford High School succeeded in carrying off the large prize, a handsome engraved shield, while the individual prize went to Major Charles F. Peirce of Gloucester High; second to Clifton E. Smith, Chief Music at New Bedford High.

The prize drill was preceded by a short exhibition drill by the four companies of the battalion: Co. A. Capt. Frederick H. Busby; Co. B. Capt. Louis R. Golden; Co. C. Capt. Henry E. Tiwell; Co. D. Capt. William W. Laug. About 2.30 P.M. the drill was broken up by several parodies and the closing number was a selection from "Carnival," with a combination of tenor and baritone solos by Mr. C. E. Parrott. The closing number was followed by a free-for-all which ended with a grand contra dance.

A Souvenir Booklet was also distributed by the committee.

(Continued on page 2.)

TECH TEAM GOES TO PHILADELPHIA TONIGHT

I am writing this from a hotel room in Philadelphia. The Tech team has come to Philadelphia for the Penn Relay Carnival. It is a big event and I am excited to be here.

Technological Society

Yesterday afternoon before an appreciable crowd the annual Intero-continental drill under the auspices of the M. I. T. Athletic association was held in South Armory. New Bedford High School succeeded in carrying off the large prize, a handsome engraved shield, while the individual prize went to Major Charles F. Peirce of Gloucester High; second to Clifton E. Smith, Chief Music at New Bedford High.

The prize drill was preceded by a short exhibition drill by the four companies of the battalion: Co. A. Capt. Frederick H. Busby; Co. B. Capt. Louis R. Golden; Co. C. Capt. Henry E. Tiwell; Co. D. Capt. William W. Laug. About 2.30 P.M. the drill was broken up by several parodies and the closing number was a selection from "Carnival," with a combination of tenor and baritone solos by Mr. C. E. Parrott. The closing number was followed by a free-for-all which ended with a grand contra dance.

A Souvenir Booklet was also distributed by the committee.

(Continued on page 2.)

CLASS DAY COMMITTEE RAPIDLY FORMULATING PLANS FOR EXERCISES

Committee Elects Sneddon, Schofield, Clapp And Reynolds Orators

Final plans for the observation of Senior Week this year are rapidly being formulated by the 1910 Class Day committee. According to present plans the festivities will open with the annual class dinner, which will be held on the evening of June 2, as a place to be announced later.

The regular class day exercises will be held in Huntington Hall, as already announced in the December catalogue.

The four class day orators have been elected by the committee as follows:—

class historian, James Stuart Sheldon;

class prophet, Dudley Clapp; presentation orator, William Marble Schobold, gift orator, Burgess Reynolds; third Marshall Frank Frederic Bell and President Richard Frederic Goodwin, Jr., will be the other speakers.

All of the men thus honored by their class through its committee are prominent in class and Institute activities.

Sneddon was a member of the 1910 Technique Electoral Committee, executive editor of "The Tech," and at present a member of the 1916 Class Day committee. He is also a member of the Mechanical Engineering society.

Chapp has been managing editor of the Tech, advertising manager of Tech Show 1910, and general manager of Tech Show 1911. He is well known for his ability to write topical lyrics and parodies and will no doubt make a big hit with his class prophecy. He is a member of the Chemical Society, having been elected vice-president of the society during his junior year.

BERGEN REYNOLDS, gift orator.

Biology, open for the students fields of biology and health. Mr. Selskar M. Gunn, '05, that his influence has been the most in-

Technological Society

Yesterday afternoon before an appreciable crowd the annual Intero-continental drill under the auspices of the M. I. T. Athletic association was held in South Armory. New Bedford High School succeeded in carrying off the large prize, a handsome engraved shield, while the individual prize went to Major Charles F. Peirce of Gloucester High; second to Clifton E. Smith, Chief Music at New Bedford High.

The prize drill was preceded by a short exhibition drill by the four companies of the battalion: Co. A. Capt. Frederick H. Busby 1912; Co. B. Capt. Louis R. Golden 1911; Co. C. Capt. Henry E. Tiwell 1912; Co. D. Capt. William W. Laug 1912. About 2.30 P.M. the drill was broken up by several parodies and the closing number was a selection from "Carnival," with a combination of tenor and baritone solos by Mr. C. E. Parrott. The closing number was followed by a free-for-all which ended with a grand contra dance.

A Souvenir Booklet was also distributed by the committee.

(Continued on page 2.)

INTERCOLLEGIATE DRILL

New Bedford High Wins Prize Of Engraved Shield

The most recent elections to the board of editors of Technique 1912 are as follows:

Editor, W. Chandler 1911; Co. B. Capt. Louis R. Golden; Co. C. Capt. Henry E. Tiwell 1912; Co. D. Capt. William W. Laug 1912. About 2.30 P.M. the drill was broken up by several parodies and the closing number was a selection from "Carnival," with a combination of tenor and baritone solos by Mr. C. E. Parrott. The closing number was followed by a free-for-all which ended with a grand contra dance.

A Souvenir Booklet was also distributed by the committee.

(Continued on page 2.)

Phelps, Reports and Election

April Number Contains Interesting Article On Tech Show

In the Technology Review for April which has just appeared in the programme the third and fourth issues of the year were completed for the remaining positions. The technical fields of the graphic arts were Maj. Wil. H. Perry, M. V. M. Capt. Frederick Whiting, M. V. M. Capt. Abbott T. F. Tashman, D. S. A. instructor in military drill at the Military Academy.

Nine schools were represented by squads of three men each. The schools were: Brandeis, Boston, Brooklyn, Franklin, Harvard, Harvard, John Hopkins, Lehigh, and Massachusetts. At the end of the third period the Boston, Harvard, John Hopkins, and Massachusetts were the leaders with Maj. Wil. H. Perry, M. V. M. Capt. Frederick Whiting, M. V. M. Capt. Abbott T. F. Tashman, D. S. A. instructor in military drill at the Military Academy.

Two of the teams were represented by schools which are not members of the Institute, but which have been invited to participate in the Institute's events.

A Souvenir Booklet was also distributed by the committee.

(Continued on page 2.)

Final plans for the observation of Senior Week this year are rapidly being formulated by the 1910 Class Day commit-

The four class day orators have been elected by the committee as follows:—

class historian, James Stuart Sheldon;

class prophet, Dudley Clapp; presentation orator, William Marble Schobold, gift orator, Burgess Reynolds; third Marshall Frank Frederic Bell and President Richard Frederic Goodwin, Jr., will be the other speakers.

All of the men thus honored by their class through its committee are prominent in class and Institute activities.

Sneddon was a member of the 1910 Technique Electoral Committee, executive editor of "The Tech," and at present a member of the 1916 Class Day committee. He is also a member of the Mechanical Engineering society.

Chapp has been managing editor of the Tech, advertising manager of Tech Show 1910, and general manager of Tech Show 1911. He is well known for his ability to write topical lyrics and parodies and will no doubt make a big hit with his class prophecy. He is a member of the Chemical Society, having been elected vice-president of the society during his junior year.

BERGEN REYNOLDS, gift orator.

Biology, open for the students fields of biology and health. Mr. Selskar M. Gunn, '05, that his influence has been the most in-

Technological Society

Yesterday afternoon before an appreciable crowd the annual Intero-continental drill under the auspices of the M. I. T. Athletic association was held in South Armory. New Bedford High School succeeded in carrying off the large prize, a handsome engraved shield, while the individual prize went to Major Charles F. Peirce of Gloucester High; second to Clifton E. Smith, Chief Music at New Bedford High.

The prize drill was preceded by a short exhibition drill by the four companies of the battalion: Co. A. Capt. Frederick H. Busby 1912; Co. B. Capt. Louis R. Golden; Co. C. Capt. Henry E. Tiwell 1912; Co. D. Capt. William W. Laug 1912. About 2.30 P.M. the drill was broken up by several parodies and the closing number was a selection from "Carnival," with a combination of tenor and baritone solos by Mr. C. E. Parrott. The closing number was followed by a free-for-all which ended with a grand contra dance.

A Souvenir Booklet was also distributed by the committee.

(Continued on page 2.)