TECHNOLOGY CREW WINS FROM HARVARD 1911

Finishes With Lead Of Three Lengths in Very Hard-Fought Race

Yesterday afternoon on the Charles River, the Technology 'varsity eight' defeated the second Harvard junior crew by three lengths over the one seven-eighths course.

Harvard 1911 at first took the lead, but were quickly overtaken and the Institute eight led throughout the rest of the course. The water was rough and so the time of the Technology eight, 10 minutes, 50 seconds, is considered fairly good.

The order:

Second Junior crew—Stroke, Beal; 7, Jackson; 6, Borst; 5, Ellis; 4, Kean; 3, Harding; 2, Hopkins; bow, Wheeler; cox., Cox.

Technology crew—Stroke, Gere; 7, Herreschoff; 6, Baines; 5, Robertson; 4, Whittelsey; 3, Ruby; 2, Gott; bow, Upham; cox., Wettingill.

SENIOR PORTFOLIO

Book Will Contain 310 Photos And 250 Pages

The Senior Portfolio is now in the hands of the printers. The engraving work has been completed, but the binding still remains to be done. The book will appear about May 31. Subscriptions for 220 of the books are in and 250 copies are to be printed. The orders for these copies are all in by this time, so that it is too late to order a book now.

The price of the book will be $6.00. It will be bound in leather, and it is promised that the printing and style of paper will be something unique. Last year's Portfolio was printed in sepia ink on sepia paper, but this year's committee claim that they have made a decided improvement on this. The book will contain 310 photographs, that is the pictures of all the seniors, of all the men who have been with the class two years, even if they do not graduate with the class, of the heads of the departments, and of the officers of the faculty. There will be photographs of the Class-day Committee and of the Portfolio Committee. The identification of each man will be printed opposite his photograph, on a separate page. The paper will have printing on one side only, so that altogether the book will contain about 250 pages.

ART MUSEUM LECTURE

To-morrow at 3.30 P. M. Ex-President Charles W. Eliot will give a talk in the West Court of the Museum of Fine Arts. The subject of the lecture is "The Training of the Senses and the Artistic Spirit." The talk is free to all.

TECHNOLOGY'S CHANGES IN DUAL MEET WITH WESLEYAN DIMINISHED

Capt. Allen May Not Be Able To Enter-- Kanaly Predicts Tie Score

Technology's squad of track men, twenty-four strong, started for Middletown, Conn., this morning on the 8.24 train from Back Bay. They will arrive in the Wesleyan strong-hold a little after twelve, and then, after lunch, they will go out to Andrus Field where the meet is to be held. The first event is called at 2.30 so the men will only have a short rest before they start the struggle.

On paper, the Wesleyan team seems to be the winner by a very few points. The Tech team will not feel at the best after the long trip, but worse news than that is the fact that Captain R. H. Allen is far from being in the best condition. He has been doing much track work lately and has been in all the meets this spring. At the handicap meet he wrenched the muscles of his left thigh and yesterday at the Field, while trying to get in a little extra practice, the muscles were again strained so that now it is very doubtful if he will be able to enter any of the events. Coach Kanaly does not want to take any chances of losing his points in the Intercollegiate. All the other men are in first-class condition; P. D. White's injury to his knee is coming along nicely and it is not expected to bother him in the least today.

To make up for the possible points that Tech loses by the injury to Capt. Allen, Coach Kanaly is thinking of putting H. G. Watkins 1912 in the mile event but he rather hates to do this in as much as Watkins is relied upon to pull first place in the two-mile run; everything will depend upon how the meet is going whether he will run the two events or only in the long distance run.

Coach Kanaly is not very optimistic as to the results of the dual meet. When seen at the train this morning he said, "I can't see anything better than a tie score. Of course, in all track meets many things are liable to happen that will upset the calculations of either side. We're somewhat handicapped by the competition following so closely after the long train ride but in every instance our men are faster than in other years so that we expect at least to push Wesleyan to their limit in every event."

Captain Allen in a statement last night said that he hoped he would be in better condition today. He had his leg bandaged by the physician and it seems to be feeling quite in shape this morning. As to Tech's prospects this afternoon, he said, "We are certainly not looking for an easy proposition in Wesleyan but the fellows have all been working hard and I feel that the outlook for the Tech team is not as bad as The Tech predicts. It looks as though Wesleyan would capture more firsts than Tech but we hope to pull enough seconds and thirds to win the meet."

by past games, it certainly looks like another freshman victory today.

Crocker, Elwell, Severance, Eastman, Sampson, Thompson, Murdock, Peck, Weller MacKinnon and Hamilton will probably play for the freshmen and the sophs will be represented by Taylor, Sage, Torrey, Allen, Stone, Jones, Coulson, Sloan, Reeves and Maguire.

Pennsylvania has nine outdoor track meets scheduled for this spring.

The baseball management at Columbia is so well pleased with the work that Dave Fultz has been doing with the Blue and White squad this season that they are trying to re-engage him for a period of three years.

The athletic committee at Washington has complained of the scanty apparel which the oarsmen wear at practice and has ordered that in future men be supplied with jerseys, and that they shall keep them on during practice.

KING EDWARD DEAD; GEORGE V. REIGNS

President MacLaurin Pays Glowing Tribute To Memory Of Edward VIII

King Edward VII., who returned to England from a vacation ten days ago in the best of health, died at 11.45 o'clock last night, in the presence of his family, after an illness of less than a week, which was serious hardly more than three days.

The Prince of Wales succeeded to the crown immediately, according to the laws of the kingdom, without official ceremony. His first official act was to despatch to the lord mayor the announcement of his father's death, in pursuance of custom.

His telegram read: "I am deeply grieved to inform you that my beloved father, the King, passed away peacefully at 11.45 tonight."

(Signed) "GEORGE."

The physicians soon afterward issued their official bulletin.

The official bulletin announcing the King's death read as follows:

"May 6, 11.50 P. M.—His Majesty the King breathed his last at 11.45 tonight, in the presence of Her Majesty Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Princess Royal, the Duchess of Fife, Princess Victoria and Princess Louise, the Duchess of Argyll."

(Signed) "Laking, Reid, Powell, Dawson."

President MacLaurin, a staunch admirer of the lamented ruler and a graduate of St. John's College, Cambridge, Eng., paid the following tribute to the memory of Edward VII.:

"King Edward came to the throne after an unusually long period of probation as Prince of Wales. During that difficult period, he won the affections of his people by his urbanity, his kindness and his intense humaneness. There were times when he was exposed to severe criticisms, but the greater qualities of the man completely outweighed any weaknesses then revealed. "His position for many years before Victoria's death called for the exercise of unusual tact, and he won the admiration of all by his skill in dealing with the most difficult situations. Long before he ascended the throne he had acquired an assured position in the heart of his people and was recognized as the national hero."

"Stories of his constant kindness and thoughtfulness for the comfort and feelings of others ran on in an unending stream, and his popularity was greatly enhanced by his evident pleasure in many popular pastimes and his well-known sympathy with popular causes, social and political."

"His intellectual powers, as gauged by academic standards, were not remarkable—at least if there was any foundation for the many stories current in my time of his undergraduate days at Cambridge. But, while Edward had no claims as an intellectual, he certainly was a man of strong mind, capable of dealing with men and affairs."

"The affairs of England, under the constitution today, is of little importance unless he has the ability to make for himself a position of power out of what may so easily become a position of impotence. No one who knows the recent history of England and Europe can fail to recognize that he had been an extremely effective force. He had not been ambitious for power, but with the sterling qualities of the best of his race, he had done much by apparently simple means. Fortunately his influence had all been on the side of peace and good will among the nations."
